Massive fire loss

By GARY SCHNEIDER
Press-Record Staff Writer
A massive fire Tuesday night destroyed about half of the Mississippi Avenue Warehouse Number 2 complex, formerly the Johns-Manville Corp. asphalt products plant, on Bissell Street in Venice. The building is owned by the Madison Street Terminal Warehouse Corp. of St. Louis.

Before the nearly 24-hour-long fight was completed, units and men from seven area fire departments had participated — Venice, Madison, Granite City, Collinsville, Long Lake, Mitchell and State Park Place. Three firemen were taken to the hospital during the night as a result of the fire. All were released after treatment. Granite City firefighter

Kenneth Druhe, 2237 Lee Ave., suffered an abrasion to his right foot which he caught on a rung of the city's aerial ladder truck. X-rays were taken at St. Elizabeth Hospital and he was released. Long Lake junior volunteer fireman Steven Brown, 15, of 2432 Angela Drive, and Danny Sipes, 20, of 1831 Sixth St., Madison, a Madison fireman, both suffered smoke inhalation and were taken to the hospital. X-rays were taken and both were released. Cause of the blaze was not immediately apparent. The fire broke out shortly after 4 p.m. Tuesday inside a warehouse section at the rear of the complex, near the west end. Empty bottles and empty beer cans were stored in the section. Venice firemen were called to the scene at 4:20 p.m. and by the time the trucks arrived, the fire already was producing dense smoke which made it difficult to locate the flames.

Burned plant built in 1890s

Operated until 1970 by the Johns-Manville Corp., the Venice plant damaged by fire Tuesday had been utilized during the past several years as a general warehouse by the Mississippi Avenue firm. The plant was operated by the Barber Asphalt Co. from the early 1890s until 1944, producing such products as asphalt roofing and paint.

During war years, Barber Asphalt had government contracts and produced material which was used for temporary airplane landing strips. From 1920 to 1926, Barber Asphalt also operated an oil refinery at the west end of the main warehouse building.

In September 1945, the plant was purchased by the Fry Roofing Co. Fry did not begin actual operation, and a short time later the facility was sold to Celotex Corp. During the 15 years that Celotex operated the plant, many remodeling and expansion programs were carried out. In 1954, a 14,000-square-foot warehouse was built for storage of dry felt, the base of asphalt shingles and roll roofing products.

In 1955, the company erected 13 slate silos for storage of various colors of granules used in producing asphalt roofing. In early 1961, the plant was acquired from Celotex by the Johns-Manville Products Corp., which began operations on May 1 of that year. The plant was part of the building products division of the parent Johns-Manville Corp.

In 1962, there were 58 hourly and 20 salaried employees, making asphalt roll roofing, asphalt shingles and fiberglassbased products. In addition, the plant warehoused other products for shipment to customers in the Midwest.

Situated on 23 acres of land with 200,000 square feet under roof, the plant was expanded in the early 1960s with the erection of a 180,000-square-foot warehouse.

Closely associated with the Barber Asphalt firm and local civic activities for many years, M. S. Darrow was in charge of operations from 1914 to 1941. William J. Hart succeeded him in 1941-43, and Everett Lyons in 1943-44.

During Celotex operation of the plant, Franz J. Alfels was manager from 1946 to 1951, Marion M. Hambrick 1951-55, Alfred R. Bideaux 1955-60 and A. W. Buechner, beginning in 1960. Buechner remained as manager after the acquisition by Johns-Manville.

Raises by city; deficit to grow

By HARRY BARNES
Press-Record Staff Writer
Salary increases for Granite City employees that will cost the city an additional $118,531 per year and raise the projected 1974-75 budget deficit to an estimated $900,000 were approved by the City Council Monday night.

Acting on a recommendation by Alderman Frank Greenwald, chairman of the council's Negotiating committee, the aldermen approved a monthly raise of $45 across-the-board for City Hall clerical workers and a $65 per-month increase for all other city employees, including those of the police, fire and street departments.

Greenwald, in recommending the raises, told the aldermen, "I recommend that we accept this agreement. I don't see how the committee can come up with anything better."

A decision on the wage schedule for new working agreements ended several months of negotiations between the council committee and representatives of unions representing city workers, and cleared the way for completion of the new city budget, which must be approved by the end of this month.

Alderman Sam Whitmer, a member of the Negotiating committee, said employees originally demanded a 10 per cent increase, but the committee held out for a 6 per cent raise. In subsequent negotiations, he said, the $45-$65 formula was agreed upon. That schedule represents an increase of approximately 7 per cent, he said.

On the basis of the 1973-74 payroll costs, the salary raises will bring the new payroll requirements for the 1974-75 fiscal year to $2,021,867. Last year's payroll was $1,902,836. Greenwald remarked that city workers "recognize the city's financial situation, but they don't care. If the city had insisted on the 6 per cent raise, the unions would have asked to reopen their agreements later when some of our financial problems are solved. Under the new agreement, the 7 per cent raise will eliminate this possibility."

Settlement of the wage issue had held up completion of the new city budget which was projected in a tentative draft two months ago at $5,138,262.

Steelecrest annexation

An ordinance annexing two lots of Steelecrest Village Manor to Granite City was enacted by the City Council in regular meeting Monday night.

The newly annexed tract extends 175 feet west from Mockingbird Lane and 135 feet south of the north side of Whippoorwill Lane.

The action was taken on a petition for annexation filed by Granite City Trust & Savings Bank as trustee, and by Wilshire Manor, Inc., owners of the property.

One resident of the area, Ramona Parra, consented to the annexation in the petition. It was the second annexation of Namooki Township land approved by the City Council within the past month. In its May 27 meeting, the council approved annexation of a 22-acre tract of land northeast of Granite City upon petition of the Morris Investment Co.

A third annexation involving an area between D'Lynn and Shriener drives and Hamilton Drive and Harrison Lane is pending as the result of action taken by the council on May 20. The council accepted a subdivision plat for the area with the understanding that an annexation petition will be filed with the City Plan Commission. In related actions Monday night, the council received and referred to the city attorney two individual requests for annexation to Granite City. The petitions included those filed by Boyd and Pauline Presley for newly purchased property at 2336 Emert St., and by Marcia and Alex Kujawa for their residence property at 2349 Emert St.

The council also enacted an ordinance prohibiting right turns on red signal lights at all four corners of Niedringhaus and Madison avenues. The ordinance was opposed by Alderman Everett Morien who noted the state law permitting right turns on red lights was passed "to straighten things out ... and now we're changing."

At World Youth Conference

Gregg Embick, a member of the First Church of the Nazarene of Granite City, is in Fiesch, Switzerland, this week attending the World Youth Conference.

Embick, who will be a senior this fall at Collinsville High School, left Sunday for Switzerland and will travel to Paris and other areas after the conference concludes this weekend.

The teen-centered conclave is a quadrennial event sponsored by the Nazarene Young People's Society, an auxiliary of the Church of the Nazarene with headquarters in Kansas City, Mo.

The Rev. Melvin McCullough, head of the Nazarene Department of Youth, said, "The World Youth Conference offers a fantastic opportunity to make youth conscious of the fact that our church is a world church, and to do it in an international setting."

"It is an unprecedented occasion for deep spiritual enrichment and an opportunity to take seriously the great commission to share the historic gospel with our generation."

Major speakers at the conference are Dr. Edward Lawlor, general superintendent, the Rev. Talmadge Johnson, current general president of the Nazarene Young People's Society, and the Rev. McCullough.

Helpful guide to dining in Europe

Going to Europe this summer?

If you are, a copy of the book "Maitre D's Guide to Dining Out in Paris, Rome and London," written by Keith Guenther, maitre d' of Kemoll's Restaurant, 4201 North Grand Ave., St. Louis, could prove a valuable asset.

The book recommends specific restaurants in different countries to fit every traveler's pocketbook and taste.

Also included is a section on foreign currency, in addition to many practical travel tips.

"The Guide" has received several excellent reviews, both in the United States and abroad. The January 1973 edition of "The Book Exchange," published in London, England, states: "This excellent guide corrects the major fault of most such books — covering too many restaurants in too little detail."

A half-page review of the book is featured in the 1973 edition of the "American Reference Books Annual," a standard library reference publication which is available at the Anyone wishing an autographed copy of "Maitre D's Guide" is invited to contact Guenther at Kemoll's.

Holiday magazine's "Guide to Fine Dining for 1974" lists only seven restaurants in the entire state of Missouri. Kemoll's, specializing in Italian food, is one of those listed.

A Holiday magazine recommendation is considered to be among the most prestigious rating a restaurant can receive in the United States, it was learned.

Club tours Botanical Gardens

The Gardenaires Garden Club toured the many points of interest within the Missouri Botanical Gardens, viewing the Climatron, the Linnaean Camellia House, the Desert House, the Garden for the Blind, the rose gardens, the growing center and the Henry Shaw House, before a short business meeting and luncheon in the Floral Display House.

Mrs. Charles Kohl, president, was in charge. Mrs. Alex Taroff, scholarship chairman, advised the group that Scott Wallace of the Cahokia Mound Boy Scout Council would be sent to the Conservation and Environmental Education Workshop for high school students at Southern Illinois University at Carbondale, July 28 - Aug. 2. Mrs. A. A. Malottki Jr., Garden Center chairman, said the current display at the G.C. Public Library is "Garden Tools and Power Equipment." Additional materials are provided on vegetable growing and related diseases and pests to satisfy a popular demand for this seasonal information.

Members also visited the headquarters of the National Council of State Garden Clubs, Inc., which occupies adjoining acreage to the Botanical Gardens.

Others present were Mrs. C. E. Eads, Mrs. Earl Glenn and Mrs. William Long, who invited the club to her home in Edwardsville for the July 11 meeting.

Local entries in tennis tourney

"This promises to be one of the best tennis tournaments in years," speculates MacClair, Tennis Association President Ron Patterson of this weekend's junior open at Belleville West High School.

"So far, we have received entries from as far away as 200 miles, and many from the Quad-City area," he said.

Among those expected to compete is Granite City High School's Mike Papes, who teamed with Steve McCluskey in doubles competition last month in the state high school consolation division. Papes has entered the MacClair meet as a singles player.

Patterson said Warrior standout Bill Rusick will not compete because of his being ranked in the Missouri Valley Association.

MacClair rules specify that a ranked player can compete only in adult tournaments and only by invitation.

Scheduled to begin at 9 a.m., tomorrow through Sunday, the junior meet is the association's first of four planned to be held this summer.

Separate competition for boys and girls will be held in singles and doubles for 12-and-under youngsters, those aged 14 and under and those 18 and under.

Foyt 3-time Indy winner, Spalding triple stock car titlist at Tri-City

WIB SPA&DING, defending champion driver at the Tri-City Speedway.

Three-time Tri-City Speedway track champion Wib Spalding of Ponton Beach will continue his quest for a fourth consecutive late model stock car division track title when auto racing resumes tomorrow evening at the local raceway.

The only driver in his class to capture more than one feature race on the half-mile dirt oval, Spalding has not won the 25-lap event since May 10. His first win was on April 26.

Other late model auto drivers seeking repeat victories are Lou Thierrey, Bill Scherer, Russ Wallace and Len Giltmeier.

Giltmeier was the last victor.

The weekly racing program was rained out on June 14.

Two Granite Cityans share the feature race honors in sportsman class competition on the smaller, quarter-mile dirt track at Tri-City Speedway.

Gary Barker posted back-to-back victories, April 19 and 26, but has not won since then.

Jack Yates also had back-to-back wins, May 24 and June 7. He captured both 20-lap events after crossing the finish line second and then later being declared the winner when the first-place cars were disqualified on protests.

Other sportsman class main event winners this season have been Mike Hensz and Pat Walsh, both of St. Louis.

Late model stock car drivers will be out to better the one-lap track record of 25.83 seconds, at 7:30 p.m. Friday. The first race on the half-mile dirt oval, heat race is scheduled to get under way at 8:30 p.m.

Lone star state producing many Tri-City cycle stars

Texas motorcycle racers left their mark Tuesday evening at the Tri-City Speedway, topping a star-studded field of 98 riders from around the nation to capture nine of 16 American Motorcycle Association sanctioned events.

National rider Mike Kidd of Fort Worth headed the contingent of Texans by winning his heat race and semi-final event and outdueling the late model, brothers James and Robert Lee, in the feature race.

Robert E. Lee, defending track champion here, dashed to the lead on the first lap of the 10-lap feature, with Louisiana's

Mike Gerald running second and Kidd a close third.

Kidd took the number two position on the second lap and James Lee swept out of nowhere past Gerald on lap five to run third.

Robert Lee struggled to retain his lead but Kidd and James powered their way past him on the next-to-last lap and crossed the finish line first and second. Robert Lee took the checkered flag third, and Gerald was fourth.

In an attempt to sweep every event he entered, Kidd led for two laps of the four-lap trophy dash but was denied a victory when James Lee edged him at the finish line.

Said Robert E. Lee afterwards, "It's bad enough to be beaten by Kidd. But it's triple bad when my own kid brother outrides me."

He had to settle for an earlier heat race victory while James Lee captured a heat race and an eight-lap semi-event.

Mercer hosts Panama

Mercer's Inter-City Baseball League squad enters its ninth weekend of competition Sunday at home with a 2 p.m. contest against Panama at Wilson Park.

Presently in second place in the Red Division with a 4-2 record after splitting a twin bill with East Alton of the Blue Division this week, the local nine is hoping to tie its division leader, Troy (5-1). Troy also split two this week, at Panama, and will meet Livingston Sunday.

Highland-Pierron rounds out the Red Division standings at 2-4 after a victory over Livingston.

The split with Mercer this week gave East Alton a 5-2 record thus far on the season, but dropped it into second place in that division behind Piasa, 5-1, at Highland-Pierron Sunday while East Alton has a bye.

Each week of play, one team now draws a bye; Molitor of Collinsville shortened the league to seven squads by dropping out last month.

Trailing Piasa and East Alton in Blue Division standings are Panama (2-5) and Livingston (0-6).

Soccer camp here July 15-19

The "Y" Soccer Association is cooperating with Pat McBride and Bob Kehoe on a soccer camp for youths of Granite City July 15-19.

Boys 8 to 16 and girls 10 to 18 years of age will receive daily instruction in the skills and techniques of soccer.

The soccer camp instructors are Pat McBride and Bob Kehoe.

McBride was an All-American at St. Louis University and later an international player on the U.S. Olympic and World Cup soccer teams; presently he is captain of the St. Louis Stars professional team.

Kehoe's experiences include being captain of the U.S. World Cup team in 1985, head coach of the St. Louis Stars in 1980-81 and head coach of the U.S. World Cup team in 1972. He is head soccer coach at Granite City North High School.

The soccer camp will consist of a two-hours-a-day session for the five days.

There will be three two-hour sessions daily, with a limit of 30 in each session. Youngsters who register will be assigned to a two-hour session according to their age and level of skill.

Registration will be held at the Tri-City Area YMCA on July 1-24 from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. on a first-come, first-served basis.

Cost is $11 per player, or a total of $22 if there are two or more players in the same family.

The soccer camp will be conducted at Steele Field here. The camp will provide a camp tee shirt for each participant; shoes and wearing apparel must be provided by each player.

Collinsville next foe of baseball Braves

DARIS DAVIS
Braves hurler

Granite City Braves pitcher Daris Davis will take a 2-1 record to the mound Monday for the local team in a two-night doubleheader with Collinsville at Fletcher Field there beginning at 6 p.m.

The local Belleville Area Traveling League team, now 5-4 overall (2-0 in league play), saw its first league action Sunday in a doubleheader at East St. Louis.

Davis helped the Braves to a 20-7 victory with a three-run homer in the seventh inning of the first contest, and then assisted starting pitcher Randy Lyerla in capturing the second game, 8-3, with relief pitching in the seventh.

Kirk Champion, with an 0-1 record, is scheduled to start on the mound for Granite City in the second game of the dual schedule.

Jim Jackson, centerfielder for the Braves, belted a grand slam home run in the first game at East St. Louis.

The opener saw the Braves garner 13 hits and commit three errors; the hosts had eight hits and three miscues.

In the second game, the Braves led in hits, 9-5, and erred twice to the hosts' four errors. Rich Schmidt and Tom Manogian both hit triples with men on base in the opener. Hurler Rick Fancher gets credit for the win.

The Braves were behind 3-2 until the top of the seventh inning in the second game but their bats began booming and they scored six runs.

After Davis came in as a relief pitcher, he led off the seventh with a double. Jeff Scarborough and Brian Sykes hit triples in the same inning.

Read is unfriendly to Venice-Madison, 3-1

Venice-Madison American Legion Post 307 remained winless in seven outings after dropping a 3-1 decision at Edwardsville Tuesday in a District 22 league contest.

Loosing hurler Jim Beeber allowed the enemy only two hits and held it scoreless for five innings.

Post 307 scored its lone run in the third as Beeber singled and tallied on a fielding error on a ball hit by Mark Greenwald.

Venice-Madison threatened again in the inning but the rally ended when a runner overran second base and was tagged out.

Edwardsville upped its league record to 4-2, scoring all of its run in the sixth on two doubles, an error, and another double.

Kevin Werner and Dwayne Atchley singled to round out Post 307's hitting.

Venice-Madison is on the road today for a 6 p.m. game at Fairview Heights. It will then play host to O'Fallon at 2 p.m. Sunday at Lee Park.

Teachers beat Legion, bus schedule next

Granite City Post 113 now has a 4-1 record in American Legion Baseball League competition after losing 4-2 Tuesday at East St. Louis.

"We committed four errors," commented Coach Conrad Champion, "and each one gave them a run."

Treatment plant work still down

The complete shutdown of construction activities at the site of the new Granite City secondary sewage treatment plant on the Army Installation grounds continued today as workers from several unions honored the picket line.

One member of Teamsters' Local 525.

Construction officials said the site early morning, keeping members of the Operating Engineers, Laborers, Carpenters and other unions off the job.

Construction has been halted since the strike began June 3.

Cab driver robbed of cash, cab

A Granite City taxicab driver was robbed of $25 cash and his cab at 1:35 a.m. Wednesday by three men who placed a knife at his throat after having him drive them to the top of the Granite City Canal Levee, a mile north of Rock Road.

Perinard Schmidt, a driver employed by the Yellow Cab Co., 1338 Nineteenth St., told Madison County Sheriff's deputies the men flagged him down in front of the City Area YMCA, 2001 Edison Ave., shortly after 1 a.m.

"One jumped into the front seat and the other two climbed in the back, and said they wanted to go to West Granite," Enroute to West Granite Schmidt said the men instructed him to drive instead to East 23rd Street.

"At 20th and Adams streets, one of them told me to drive him near the canal bridge where he lives."

Upon reaching the top of the levee, Schmidt reported, one of the men sitting in the back seat put a knife to his throat, made him stop the auto and said, "Hand over the money. Give us no trouble and you won't get hurt."

Bargaining for faculty at SIUE

Woody Lee, president-elect of the Illinois Education Association, said here late Monday afternoon that lack of any negotiating contract at Illinois four-year colleges has been "criminally" He welcomed SIUE faculty members as the first such group to join the collective bargaining organization.

He alleged that "colleges are trampling on tenure rights, laying off instructors without just cause and ordering dismissals on arbitrary grounds, and allowing salaries to fall behind living costs."

Lynn Kluth, acting chairman of a faculty committee, signed an addition agreement with Lee. He commented, "The question is not whether things are bad on this campus, but that they are. It's a nationwide trend."

He added that he hopes to have 90 of the 550 full-time SIUE faculty members join immediately.

Registration continues at playground centers

A total of 360 children in grades 2 through 6 registered Monday in the Granite City Park District's summer recreation program.

Ten centers will be operated in different sections of the community for the duration of the seven-week series.

Children may attend the playground center nearest their home.

Helen Bjorkman, recreational supervisor, said total enrollment is down from previous summers. Many parents are attending summer school or vacation Bible school during the morning hours, she said.

"We want to encourage parents to send their child to the afternoon session from 1 to 3 p.m., if he or she is unable to attend during the morning hours," Mrs. Bjorkman said.

New teamster talks

Meanwhile, a $250 million suit was filed in Federal Court at Peoria Monday by the Associated General Contractors of Illinois against the Illinois Conference of Teamsters and the International Brotherhood of Teamsters.

Major issues include a union proposal for a three-year contract with pay raises of $3 to $3.20 an hour. The contractors have offered raises of $1.86 to $2.16 over the contract period.

Construction drivers now are paid $6.90 to $7.70 an hour.

Seniority, the union's right to strike without binding arbitration on deadlocked grievances and other work and job classification rules are among other issues.

About 4,000 construction drivers are off their jobs and have set up picket lines. There have been honored by another 20,000 to 25,000 workers in 89 Illinois counties outside of Chicago area.

New Madison playground director

John Carlson, 1706 Fifth St., Madison, was named Madison playground and recreation director Tuesday night, filling the vacancy created Jan. 1 by the resignation of Gary Novich.

Carlson will be aided by Christene Haynes who was named assistant playground and recreation director.

The appointments were among 30 made by Mayor Mike Sasyk at Tuesday night's Madison City Council meeting which were approved unanimously by the council.

All appointments were made effective as of May 1. The officers will serve through April 30, 1975.

Reappointed by Sasyk were Chief of Police Frank Dutko, Police Youth Officer William Fanning, Police Clerk Roy J. Hill Jr., Police Investigator Paul Bargiel, Superintendent of Streets Elmer Smith, Refuse Foreman Paul Besserman and City Comptroller Albert Rudzik.

Executive Secretary Rita Lybarger, Corporation Counsel George Filcott, City Attorney Casper Nighobossian, Building Inspector John Dutko, Assistant Building Inspector Curtis King Sr. and Health Officer Gene Robertson.

Reappointed to the street and alley department as workers were Robert Robbins, Charles Street, but they all will be turned down by the first of the year.

The city's building inspector reported he has been inspecting numerous homes and buildings for persons requesting occupancy permits. He said he had six requests for inspections on one day.

Chief Dutko told the council that the police and Explorer Post 10-4 of Madison raised $1,031 as Madison's share in the recent Cancer Crusade.

Dutko also reported that the city's bicycle registration and licensing program has been very successful, as more than 325 bicycles have been registered.

He said he is requesting the fire department to mark and register bicycles nights while police continue the program during the days.

Sasyk said all bicycles in the city should be registered soon. "Eventually, we will crack down on the ones who do not get their licenses to identify the bicycles in case they get stolen."

The council approved a resolution condemning a structure in the 1600 block of Fifth Street as being a health hazard.

Sasyk said the city-operated blacktopping program is underway this year, with street department personnel and equipment being used to do the work.

"If we have no strikes or anything in the next two or three years, we will be one of the few cities in Illinois with all of its streets and alleys blacktopped," Sasyk said.

Permission was granted for the Newport Homecoming Assn., to solicit in the city for advertisements for a booklet published each year and distributed during the homecoming event.

The fourth annual Newport Homecoming is to be held Aug. 31 to Sept. 2, in Madison and Venice, James Treadway Jr., president of the homecoming association, told the council in a letter.

Permission also was granted to Sacred Heart Polish National Catholic Church to conduct its annual three-day Polka Festival in the city July 26 to 28.

A request that Plum Street between Reynolds Street and Cambridge Avenue be closed for the event was granted. The city also agreed to supply trash barrels for the event.

portunity to vote on the modular home.

Moss's formal statement follows:

"As mayor of Ponton Beach, I would like to explain why issuance of a building permit to place a modular home on the property in Ponton Beach was denied.

"The owner of the modular home stated he would place on a foundation, making it a permanent home. However, he later stated to the mayor and trustees that, if he so desired, he could hook up and pull his home away to relocate in another area. This would indicate the home is mobile and not a permanent residence.

"Further, the local building code calls for 2 inch by 12 inch joists. The modular home has 2 by 6 floor joists, a violation of the building code.

"The area where the home was to be placed suffers from drainage problems. Fifty-nine residents of the immediate area requested the placement of the home there.

"Zoning ordinances prohibit the installation of a mobile system requiring a soil absorption system which would not function due to high ground water, flood or unsuitable soil characteristics.

"There was, therefore, in the opinion of the mayor and the village board, justified reason for denial of a building permit, the most serious being the potential health hazard created in the area," Moss said.

Scaglioni responded, "The whole thing is a mess. Ponton Beach won't let it in because they say it's a trailer. Morris County won't let it in because they say it's a modular home. The village passed resolution in 1962, but they say nothing about a modular home.

Scaglioni said he was not going to fight Moss's decision to allow the unit in the village, but said, "I am going to try and recover the money for the lot I purchased. It looks like I will have to take a loss on the deal. Right now I have an estimated $3,500 in cash paid out.

"One thing for sure, that piece of property is worthless until sewers can be installed, which the village estimates may not be for another five years," he said.

Scaglioni added, "I can't argue their point about the septic tank. I do think they are using that issue to sidestep the real issue, which is that it is not a regular home."

resolution, declaring the state of emergency, and the board should approve the resolution before any money is spent for the equipment.

Estes was requested to provide additional information on the type of equipment available, trade-ins being offered for the old equipment and other pertinent information before the board, probably at its next meeting July 1.

The board approved contracting with R. C. Schell & Co., certified public accountants, Alton, to conduct the annual audits of all township books. The cost of the audits was estimated at $775 to $875.

The auditors agreed to continue membership in the Township Officials of Illinois and authorized the payment of $100 dues.

Meeting dates for July and August were approved. July meetings dates are July 1, 15 and 29, each a Monday night starting at 7 p.m.

August meetings were approved for Mondays, Aug. 12 and 26, also at 7 p.m.

them right back," Morlen cast the only negative vote on the ordinance.

Another ordinance approved Monday night designated the intersection of Briarwood Drive, Briarwood Lane and Briarcliff Drive as a stop intersection for traffic on Briarwood Lane and Briarcliff Drive.

The measure makes it unlawful to drive any vehicle on Briarwood Lane and on Briarcliff Drive without making a full stop. The bill provides a fine of $5 to $25 for violations.

In a discussion of traffic stops Alderman Frank Greenwald told council members that after an accident in his ward last week he received a series of phone calls "within a matter of minutes" concerning traffic control, and that he was at a loss to understand "why people are complaining about traffic stops."

He referred to recent criticism of the large number of stops in the city, and noted that "We put in these stops because

Hurt on cycle

"Two young men were injured when their motorcycle swerved to avoid striking a rabbit and fell in loose gravel along Route 111 near Interstate 70 at 11:45 p.m. Wednesday.

The driver, Keith Lamczyk, 20, and a passenger, Charles Davis, 19, both of Florissant, Mo., were injured.

Lamczyk was admitted to the hospital with abrasions over all of his back and both legs. Davis was treated for abrasions to his left shoulder and was released.

The motorcycle was damaged. The village board is considering a resolution to allow the unit in the village, but said, "I am going to try and recover the money for the lot I purchased. It looks like I will have to take a loss on the deal. Right now I have an estimated $3,500 in cash paid out.

warehouse broke holes in the sheet metal wall through which fire hoses were directed.

The two Venice fire trucks and rescue truck quickly proved inadequate to handle the blaze and within 15 minutes the fire broke out in another warehouse section and more fire equipment was requested.

Several off-duty Granite City firemen were called into service and units from other surrounding fire departments were rushed to the scene.

As the blaze grew in intensity, along the loading docks on Bissell Street, utility posts holding live electrical lines began to burn.

Several lines fell from burning poles, but only one was reported live as power officials attempted to turn off electricity in the vicinity of the fire. The live line was reported to have fallen only one foot from a Mitchell fireman.

It also fell across the pickup truck of Mitchell Fireman Dave Sander, scorching paint on the truck.

Power outages began when lines fell about 7:40 p.m., and by 8:10 p.m. the entire North Venice and West Madison areas were without electricity.

The territory without power was between State Street and the Granite City Army Installation and from Bissell Street to College Street.

Full power was not restored to residential areas until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. The electric line to Laclede Steel Co. in Madison was the last to be repaired and the plant was without power for most of the day Wednesday.

Thousands of spectators drove and walked to the scene, creating traffic problems which hindered some fire trucks in reaching the scene.

Madison and Venice police attempted to keep traffic moving around the fire, and at 8:40 p.m. the Madison County sheriff's staff was asked to send assistance.

Sheriff's deputies were utilized for traffic control and also to help patrol the area to safeguard household belongings persons had moved outside of their homes.

Deputies also were used to help patrol the remainder of the North Venice area, which had been left nearly unprotected by authorities due to the problems the fire had created.

The blaze was marked by the angry roar of flames and by the sounds of wall after wall of glass bottles collapsing in the heat.

Firemen erected a ladder on the front of the loading dock area near the west end of the building, but when the dock shifted they were forced to flee to escape the heat, leaving the ladder behind where it was destroyed by the flames.

Rumors spread that a section of the warehouse contained paint, paint thinner, liquor, gasoline, motor oil and other flammable materials, but the reports proved false.

Numerous cans of automobile anti-freeze did burst from the heat, causing a series of small explosions which could be heard over the roar of the flames.

Soon after the fire started, firemen moved a stack of propane gas tanks, used to power forklift trucks, from the west end of the building. Fear remained that other tanks still might be inside, but no major explosions occurred.

Police cars and fire trucks, which needed their engines to continue to operate radios and pumping equipment, began to run low of fuel at about 8:30 p.m. and the Granite City fire department dispatched the assistant chief's station wagon, filled with cans of gasoline, to refill the emergency vehicles.

Most vehicles were refueled at the scene of the fire.

During the evening hours, thousands of wives of Madison firemen and others brought refreshments to the scene for firemen and emergency workers.

The fire continued to rage out of control past midnight, reducing the metal-walled building to a mountain of singed beer cans enclosed in twisted metal support beams.

The fire seemed to diminish soon afterward and the first fire units began leaving the scene at 2 a.m.

Granite City firemen left numerous fire hoses behind when they departed at 3:30 Wednesday, leaving them for the Venice department to use.

Venice Chief Meacham said all 20 of his department's firemen were on the scene all night. By Wednesday morning, the effort was centered on extinguishing small fires which continued to flare up in the rubble.

At 10 a.m. Wednesday, the flames began to grow again, but were quickly put out. Meacham commented at 11 a.m., "It looks like we are going to have to keep some men here all day, but every man has been up all night and I don't know who to leave here."

High winds brought welcome rain to the area about 5 a.m. Wednesday, but the downpour did not seem to give much aid to the firefighting efforts, as fire continued to erupt from the demolished building. "I don't know if the rain helped us at all," Chief Meacham remarked.

By noon Wednesday, all that remained in the demolished area was a smoldering mass of singed debris, separated by a small double-walled brick structure which once had divided two sections of a warehouse.

About 18 weary Venice firemen continued to direct streams of water onto areas where flames still could be seen.

A Venice city street department tractor was utilized for a short period to help break holes in the walls so that fire hoses could be used to douse small fires inside.

Full power was not restored to residential areas until 2:30 a.m. Wednesday. The electric line to Laclede Steel Co. in Madison was the last to be repaired and the plant was without power for most of the day Wednesday.

Thousands of spectators drove and walked to the scene, creating traffic problems which hindered some fire trucks in reaching the scene.

Madison and Venice police attempted to keep traffic moving around the fire, and at 8:40 p.m. the Madison County sheriff's staff was asked to send assistance.

Sheriff's deputies were utilized for traffic control and also to help patrol the area to safeguard household belongings persons had moved outside of their homes.

Deputies also were used to help patrol the remainder of the North Venice area, which had been left nearly unprotected by authorities due to the problems the fire had created.

The blaze was marked by the angry roar of flames and by the sounds of wall after wall of glass bottles collapsing in the heat.

Firemen erected a ladder on the front of the loading dock area near the west end of the building, but when the dock shifted they were forced to flee to escape the heat, leaving the ladder behind where it was destroyed by the flames.

Rumors spread that a section of the warehouse contained paint, paint thinner, liquor, gasoline, motor oil and other flammable materials, but the reports proved false.

Numerous cans of automobile anti-freeze did burst from the heat, causing a series of small explosions which could be heard over the roar of the flames.

Soon after the fire started, firemen moved a stack of propane gas tanks, used to power forklift trucks, from the west end of the building. Fear remained that other tanks still might be inside, but no major explosions occurred.

Police cars and fire trucks, which needed their engines to continue to operate radios and pumping equipment, began to run low of fuel at about 8:30 p.m. and the Granite City fire department dispatched the assistant chief's station wagon, filled with cans of gasoline, to refill the emergency vehicles.

Most vehicles were refueled at the scene of the fire.

During the evening hours, thousands of wives of Madison firemen and others brought refreshments to the scene for firemen and emergency workers.

The fire continued to rage out of control past midnight, reducing the metal-walled building to a mountain of singed beer cans enclosed in twisted metal support beams.

The fire seemed to diminish soon afterward and the first fire units began leaving the scene at 2 a.m.

Granite City firemen left numerous fire hoses behind when they departed at 3:30 Wednesday, leaving them for the Venice department to use.

Venice Chief Meacham said all 20 of his department's firemen were on the scene all night. By Wednesday morning, the effort was centered on extinguishing small fires which continued to flare up in the rubble.

At 10 a.m. Wednesday, the flames began to grow again, but were quickly put out. Meacham commented at 11 a.m., "It looks like we are going to have to keep some men here all day, but every man has been up all night and I don't know who to leave here."

High winds brought welcome rain to the area about 5 a.m. Wednesday, but the downpour did not seem to give much aid to the firefighting efforts, as fire continued to erupt from the demolished building. "I don't know if the rain helped us at all," Chief Meacham remarked.

By noon Wednesday, all that remained in the demolished area was a smoldering mass of singed debris, separated by a small double-walled brick structure which once had divided two sections of a warehouse.

About 18 weary Venice firemen continued to direct streams of water onto areas where flames still could be seen.

A Venice city street department tractor was utilized for a short period to help break holes in the walls so that fire hoses could be used to douse small fires inside.

The two Venice fire trucks and rescue truck quickly proved inadequate to handle the blaze and within 15 minutes the fire broke out in another warehouse section and more fire equipment was requested.

Several off-duty Granite City firemen were called into service and units from other surrounding fire departments were rushed to the scene.

As the blaze grew in intensity, along the loading docks on Bissell Street, utility posts holding live electrical lines began to burn.

Several lines fell from burning poles, but only one was reported live as power officials attempted to turn off electricity in the vicinity of the fire. The live line was reported to have fallen only one foot from a Mitchell fireman.

It also fell across the pickup truck of Mitchell Fireman Dave Sander, scorching paint on the truck.

Power outages began when lines fell about 7:40 p.m., and by 8:10 p.m. the entire North Venice and West Madison areas were without electricity.

The territory without power was between State Street and the Granite City Army Installation and from Bissell Street to College Street.

Fire

Venice firefighters this week acknowledged assistance they received during the fire from the Granite City Army Installation, which sent a unit and a deluge gun, and from several Brooklyn firemen who assisted the Venice effort.

A Venice truck and four firemen continued to pour water on the smoldering rubble today. A fireman commented, we hope to finish some time this afternoon.

He said several firemen worked 36 hours in a row fighting the fire and were relieved from duty for the first time late yesterday.

A spokesman for the Madison Street Terminal Warehouse Corp. said this morning, "It would be impossible at this time to estimate the loss. We are not sure of the value of the merchandise our customers had stored in there."

Asked about an estimate of damage to the building, he said, "Our engineers are over there now, but it is pretty early for them to come up with any kind of a figure."

On bike trip to Europe

Four area resident adventurers left Granite City at 11 a.m. Wednesday for a bicycle ride to Canada, and then will go to Europe where they plan to ride their bikes through Germany, Italy and the Alps.

Making the cycling trip of several thousand miles are Mrs. Jean Francis, 2629 State St.; her two sons, Terry, 18, and Keith, 14; and Jack Reed, 30 Moorland Drive, Mitchell. Reed has been a German language teacher at Granite City High School South for the past eight years.

Mrs. Francis took a 10-week special course in German in preparation for the trip.

The two adults are each riding 15-speed bikes and the boys are riding 10-speed bikes. They are carrying everything in packs. While in this country they plan to eat in restaurants, but plan to do a lot of cooking in Europe on their mini cook stove.

The first major leg of the trip will be a 1,500 mile bike ride from here to Montreal, Canada, where they will board a plane to Germany.

Highlights of the trip will be a ride through the Rhine valley and a chance to visit many castles, according to the two boys.

To get through the Alps the four Granite Cityans will ride through the Brenner Pass between Austria and Italy.

A bike riding enthusiast for several years, Reed was the first president of the Great River Riders, a club for bicycle riders organized here.

The four have taken several trips of 200 to 300 miles in preparation for the "big one." The final highlight of the trip will be the return in August to Montreal, Canada, where they plan to visit the International Bike Races.

A bus will return them to Granite City in August, as time will not permit them to cycle back.

At the Madison police station, Davis allegedly struck two Madison police officers. Granite City and Venice police were called to help subdue Davis, authorities reported.

2nd burglary Government Council bill at Midtown revised, passes House

An undetermined quantity of drugs was believed taken in a burglary at Midtown Pharmacy, Johnson Road and Wabash Avenue. It was reported this morning.

The burglary occurred one week after a similar break-in reported last Thursday.

Entry again was gained through a ventilator on the roof and by kicking out a panel in the ceiling. A different ventilator was used this week than last week, it was noted.

Very little inside the pharmacy was disturbed, with the exception of the drug shelves, police said. An inventory was being taken today to determine the extent of the loss.

Suit filed on steel supply

Attorneys of National Steel Corp. and Ward Products, Inc., Little Rock, Ark., will discuss a possible settlement of a suit by the latter alleging that its supply of steel had been cut off.

A steel shortage has developed in the U.S. The suit seeks nearly $4 million in damages, saying unavailability of steel nearly ruined the Ward firm.

National's Granite City Steel Division is among those whose orders have exceeded production but it is shipping more steel to customers in this region than ever before, spokesmen said.

Ill. Power electric rate raised

Illinois Power Co. announced today the Illinois Commerce Commission has granted the company a three per cent interim increase in electric rates.

The increase was approved at $5,300,000 additional revenue to IP on an annual basis, the company said. It represents about 30 per cent of a proposed rate increase requested on March 15.

At that time the company, which serves about 10 million natural gas in a 15,000 square-mile area of Illinois, asked for a 9.5 per cent increase in both its electric and gas rates. That request presently is undergoing hearings.

The request for immediate interim electric rate increase, pending decision on the major rate request, was filed on April 11. Wendell J. Kelley, president of the company, said then that present electric rates do not provide the rate of return stated as appropriate by the commission in a 1973 electric rate decision.

Hearings will continue in the overall electric-gas rate request.

Members of Local 30 of the United Steel Workers of America AFL-CIO were on picket duty this morning at the Granite City Steel Employees Federal Credit Union office, 1517 Twentieth Street, after negotiations between union and company officials last night failed to produce an agreement on a contract for credit union employees.

Seven of the Credit Union's office workers signed a petition in January seeking Local 30 as its bargaining agent and representative. The company agreed to the petition on Jan. 27.

Negotiations were being held at a midnight Tuesday deadline.

A picket line was formed at 7:30 a.m. yesterday. Members of Local 16 have agreed to support the effort by refusing to cross the lines.

Glenn C. Abernethy, an active community leader and former All-America City "Father of the Year," will retire July 1 after 40 years with the John Hancock Insurance Co. He has been staff manager at the Granite City area office for 27 years.

Close to 100 business associates, friends and other invited guests are planning to honor the retiree Saturday evening at a testimonial dinner at the Round Table Restaurant, Collinsville.

Special guests will be Cedric J. Scheidtmann of Dallas, Tex., John Hancock regional vice president; Ernest Sickman of Alton, district manager for the firm who will serve as master of ceremonies; and the retiree's 86-year-old father, John Abernethy of Belleville.

Abernethy acknowledges proudly, "I have been a salesman all my life and it has been a good life for me and my family."

He started selling at a Benoit auto parts firm while a high school student, and was employed by an investment and securities company before joining John Hancock on Feb. 28, 1934 at the Belleville office.

On Sept. 1, 1934, he and his former Mignon Glueck, were married. The couple is planning a 40th wedding anniversary celebration in late summer.

With the exception of 1944 to 1946 when he served with the U.S. Navy in the Pacific Theatre of Operations, Abernethy has been employed by the Hancock company continuously since 1934.

Prior to transferring to the Granite City office in 1946, he was staff manager at the firm's East St. Louis headquarters. Born and reared in Belleville where he attended school, Abernethy later enrolled at Washington University, St. Louis.

He is licensed in all aspects of the insurance business and received a Chartered Life Underwriter's degree in 1938 at St. Louis.

He is a charter member and past president of the Eastside Life Underwriters Association.

Abernethy plans to retain his license, enabling him to continue to handle life and casualty insurance business and mutual funds and bonds even after retirement, he said this week.

Upon arriving in Granite City, Abernethy quickly became assimilated into community life and in 1947 began a long association as a volunteer with the United Way agency (Community Chest-United insurance business at one place."

"John Hancock has developed from a total life insurance company into the hospitalization field in 1967 to mutual funds and bonds four years ago and casualty insurance (homeowners and auto) just two years back,"

Already active in the Boy Scout movement in Belleville, he continued his active interest here, working a total of 30 years in the youth organization.

He was selected "Father of the Year" in 1959 in a contest sponsored by the Tri-Cities Chamber of Commerce and other civic groups as part of the community's designation as an "All-America City."

Abernethy is the father of two children, Mrs. Jack (Judy) Dyer of Rochester, N. Y., a registered nurse, and Ronald Abernethy of Granite City, who has been associated with John Hancock the past eight years. He also has three grandchildren, Laura Ann and Sean Dyer and Grant Abernethy.

He is a 26-year member and past president of the Granite City Rotary Club which awarded him a special pin for 23 years' "perfect attendance."

Abernethy is a past president of the church council at St. John United Church of Christ and Niedringhaus Parent-Teacher Association. He also is a past director of the Tri-City American Red Cross Chapter.

Two months ago, Abernethy was appointed to the Madison County Special Education Advisory Committee by Harold E. Briggs, superintendent of the Educational Service Region.

In 1958 he was elected to the Granite City Board of Education and served until 1962.

Commenting about the changes in the insurance field over the past 40 years, Abernethy noted that his own firm concentrated on life insurance only until recent years.

"We have broadened our field to handle all financial services; to make more service available to clients," he said. "Most people, we find, prefer to have all their

Mosquito abatement

A mosquito abatement program with a new type of spray that will eliminate the fogging system used in past years was initiated by the Granite City street department this week, according to street Superintendent Lionel Portell.

A full-time spraying program in which street department workers will spray different areas of the city each evening that wind velocities permit will use a 95 per cent malathion chemical that is emitted by the sprayer in a fine mist that is almost invisible, Portell said.

The City Council Monday night awarded a contract to the Crown Chemical Co. of St. Louis to furnish the city five 54-gallon drums of the chemical at a price of $10.10 per gallon. Crown Chemical Co. was the lowest of three bidders.

According to Portell, the malathion spray breaks down into micros and is suspended in the air, doing a more effective job than fog sprays previously used. He said the city has one unit that will be used in the program presently, and a second unit, now on order, will be added later.

The new chemical also is less toxic than sprays previously used, reducing the danger to people and animals, Portell said. The spray on order is recommended by the State Department of Local Government Affairs.

Portell said his department also is spreading chemicals on pools of standing water in low areas to kill mosquito larvae before they hatch. Spraying units will operate on all evenings in which the wind velocity is not more than 10 miles per hour.

Tax exempt status for Operating Engineers training program here

The Internal Revenue Service has issued a ruling recognizing the tax-exempt status of an Illinois private school that has announced a racially non-discriminatory policy in admission of students to all activities of the school, Leon C. Green, district director for central and southern Illinois, said yesterday.

The school is the Operating Engineers' Local 520 Joint Apprenticeship and Training Fund, located at 520 Engineers Road, Mitchell.

The ruling has been issued under the statement of position announced by the IRS on July 10, 1970, concerning the tax exempt status of private schools.

In that statement, the IRS concluded that it could no longer legally justify recognizing exempt status to private schools that practice discrimination, nor can it allow gifts to such schools to be treated as charitable deductions for income tax purposes. The IRS position is applicable to all private schools throughout the U.S.

The Apprenticeship and Training Fund publicized its nondiscriminatory admissions policy in April.

Where a school has publicly announced a nondiscriminatory policy, Green said, for purposes of issuing a ruling the IRS will assume that such a policy has been adopted and will be maintained in good faith. This is in accord with normal IRS procedures in processing requests for rulings based on future activities, he added.

Green stressed that the IRS maintains "a vigorous program of auditing tax-exempt organizations." Examinations of private schools will take into account any complaints from the public or information from other sources that would indicate noncompliance with assurances made by the schools to the IRS.

If an examination indicates that a school has not administered its non-discriminatory policy in good faith, the tax-exempt status of the school will be challenged. Should an existing ruling to a private school be revoked as a result of a challenge, Green said, persons contributing to the school will be allowed to deduct contributions made before the date of the IRS notice of withdrawal of advance assurance of deductibility.

However, this assurance of deductibility of prior contributions does not extend to persons who know of or are responsible for activities that result in disqualification of the organization. This follows the usual IRS rules and procedures on contributions, he concluded.

Rehabilitation efforts needed, Gitchoff says

"Fifty per cent of the felony cases that come before me are drug related," Judge John Gitchoff of the Third Judicial Circuit Court, told the Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency at its group's installation dinner meeting last week.

Newly elected council officers installed at the Stratford Hotel, Alton, are: The Rev. J. W. Jordan, president; Dr. Robert Carroll, vice president; Irving Wiseman, treasurer and Mrs. Pauline Spickerman, secretary.

Judge Gitchoff, of Granite City, spoke about the relation of alcohol and drug abuse to crime and stated there is a need for treatment resources as alternatives for the rehabilitation of offenders in Madison County.

The native Quad-City area cited several isolated instances where probation cases are now receiving treatment in other counties for their addiction, rather than incarceration. Because these services in other areas are limited and involve extensive travel, Judge Gitchoff said that probation and rehabilitation programs are desperately needed in Madison County, "if any long-term effectiveness and widespread success are to be achieved."

Council staff members, invited guests and board members Manfred Ruby, Joseph Howard, Doug Thompson, Jack Acker, Paul Raczkievicz and Joe Vozar were present at the dinner, in addition to the new officers.

Over 7 million living veterans of Vietnam era

Separations from the U. S. armed forces during April pushed the total number of living veterans of the Vietnam era to 7,002,000, the Veterans Administration reported today.

The total 9,368,000 participants, including those still on active military duty, of the Vietnam era is second only to the 16,535,000 men and women who served in the U. S. armed forces during World War II.

Military service since Aug. 4, 1964, is considered in the Vietnam era because no termination date for Vietnam benefits has been set by Congress. World War II service was recorded from Sept. 16, 1940 through July 25, 1947.

There are 13.8 million living veterans of World War II with an average age of 54. The average of the 1.1 million World War I veterans is 79. The average age of the Vietnam era veteran is 28.9.

The nation's last veteran of the Civil War died in 1969. However, VA continues to provide pension assistance to 251 wives of soldiers who saw service in the battle between the States. Similarly, 86 wives of veterans of the Indian Wars continue to receive VA assistance.

MR. AND MRS. JERRY COONROD, whose wedding took place at the Word of Life Tabernacle, 1200 Meridian Ave. The bride is the former Miss Shirley Morris, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Morris, 1633 Fifth St., Madison.

Shirley Morris married in afternoon ceremony

The Rev. Henry Crippen officiated, at a double ring ceremony at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of June 8 at the Word of Life Tabernacle, 1200 Meridian Ave., uniting in marriage Miss Shirley Morris and Jerry Coonrod.

Wedding selections played by the church organist preceding the service, included "Love Story" and "We've Only Just Begun."

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Morris, 1633 Fifth St., Madison. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Coonrod, 1119 McCambridge Ave., Madison.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a long gown of bridal organza accented with lace motifs at the oval neckline and applied on the demi-tail skirt. Matching lace created the wide cuffs of the long sheer sleeves and a floral headpiece secured her bouffant elbow length veil. She carried a bouquet of white carnations.

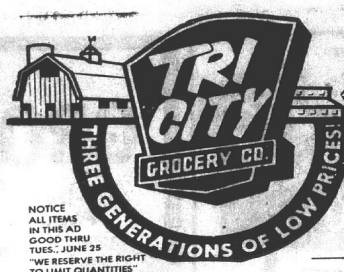

Maid of honor, Mrs. Arlene Pesek and the bridesmaid, Miss Carole Morris, both sisters of the bride, chose long yellow gowns made with short puff sleeves. Their flowers were arrangements of yellow and white carnations.

Vernon Pesek, the bride's brother-in-law, served as best man. Paul Coonrod, a cousin of the groom, was the groomsman.

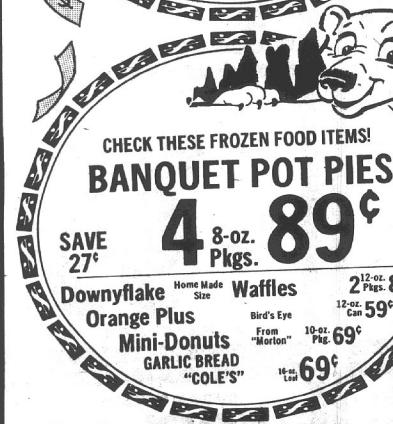

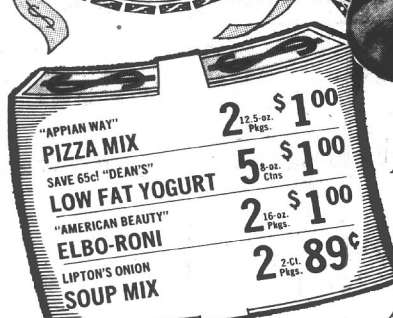

After the ceremony guests were received by the newly married couple at a reception given in the 300 Room of Brunswick Tri-Mor Bowl.

The bride will graduate next year from Madison High School. She currently works in the high school office, Mr. Coonrod, a 1972 Madison graduate, is employed at Granite City Steel. They are residing in Madison.

Nonn, Portell clash on street dept. practice

Granite City street department workers have been dumping "loads of trash" on the city garage grounds and then sorting it for scrap metal and other salvageable material which they sell to help finance an annual department Christmas party, Walter Nonn, alderman of the Fifth Ward, claimed during a meeting of the City Council Monday night.

The alderman charged that he had seen such loads of trash brought into the garage grounds at 2301 Adams St. last week and that when he asked an employee what was happening, the employee retorted, "Don't you know what's going on around here?"

But Lionel Portell, superintendent of streets, asserted that Nonn was exaggerating and that the picture is not the way Nonn painted it.

He said Nonn's remarks before the council were the continuation of criticisms of the street department "that Nonn has been making because we haven't put up all the signs he wants on the streets in his ward."

Portell explained that street department workers pick up trash and debris on the streets, replace broken metal signs and haul street sweepings.

Sometimes, he said, these loads are insufficient to make a trip to the landfill and they are dumped at the far end of the garage property near the railroad tracks until full truckloads accumulate to justify disposing of it.

"The men do pick metal and other items from the trash that can be sold and this money does go into a pot which is supplemented from the men's own pockets to buy refreshments for a party they usually hold at Christmas time," Portell explained.

"Nonn knows full well that has been going on. He has known it for 25 years. He was chairman of the street and alley committee for several terms and he knows what goes on around the city garage," the street superintendent added.

"It is just another way for Nonn to needle me because I haven't done everything he's asked in his ward," Portell said.

Nonn again asked Portell when signs would be installed to regulate traffic under a 25-mile-per-hour speed limit established by ordinance two months ago for streets in West Granite, including Cayuga, Harding, Roosevelt, Denver, West 22nd Street, and West 20th Street, between Rock Road and FA Route 151.

The alderman said he had particularly asked that 20-mile-per-hour signs be taken down on Rock Road and 20th Street, but that he had received no response to the request.

Portell replied that 20-mile zones are established for school areas under state regulations and that it is questionable whether they can be removed.

The street superintendent said he believed that 25-mile zones also are questionable since 30 mile-per-hour speed limits in residential areas are based on a state highway department formula.

"I'm not a traffic engineer," Portell said. "We get all kinds of requests for these signs and we are willing to put them up if someone will designate officially where they are supposed to go."

Alderman Sam Whitmer told the council, "This is the third time we've had to sit here and listen to this. I hope it's the last."

The words between Nonn and Portell followed a similar encounter between Nonn and City Treasurer Paul Rutledge when the alderman claimed he had been unable to obtain a report from Rutledge on a fund of $1.8 million which Nonn claims the city has on deposit in the First Granite City National Bank.

Nonn told council members, "As a home rule community, I believe we aldermen are entitled to reports on all financial matters. I want to make a motion now that we (the aldermen) be furnished a report by Rutledge on the $1.8 million fund we have in the bank, how much interest it is earning, what it is for and how much is actually there."

Nonn said that of the $1.8 on deposit, $1.2 million of it could be used by the city.

"I don't know what Walter (Nonn) is talking about," Rutledge told the council. "He telephoned me the other day and began asking about reports on such a fund and during the conversation he hung up on me. I called him back trying to clarify the request, and he hung up on me again."

Rutledge said he believed Nonn was referring to monies on deposit in the construction fund of the secondary sewage treatment plant, a fund that can be used only for that purpose.

"Why don't you give us a complete report?" Nonn asked again. "You gave the mayor one."

"What report?" Mayor Paul Schuler queried. "You've got one," Nonn said. "I saw it."

"How did you see it? I haven't shown any reports to anyone," the mayor replied.

"You shouldn't read the mayor's mail," one of the aldermen quipped to Nonn.

Alderman Ronald Coleman, a member of the council's finance committee, told the council, "The finance committee has received a report on every financial matter this city has, and I don't know what Nonn is talking about."

Mayor Schuler, instead of calling for a vote on Nonn's motion that a report be furnished, said he believed that "you fellows should get together tomorrow and talk this thing over."

Demos name four delegates

Two Madison County residents—Sam W. Wolf of Griggsville and Buddy W. Davis of Wood River—and two from St. Clair County were elected Tuesday night at Edwardsville as 23rd Congressional District delegates to the mid-Presidential-term Democratic national conference Dec. 6-8 in Kansas City, Mo.

Named from St. Clair County were Patrick D. Sullivan of Belleville and James White of East St. Louis. They were chosen from among 24 candidates who had filed for delegate posts in the 23rd Congressional District. The Illinois State Democratic Central Committee designates the number of delegates to be named from each congressional district.

The delegates were elected by 20 Democratic electors chosen in voting by Democrats in separate conventions in Madison County and St. Clair County on June 4. St. Clair County and 11 townships of Madison County, including the Quad-Cities, make up the 23rd Congressional District.

Madison County and St. Clair County named ten electors in the June 4 balloting at which any qualified voter who is a Democrat is permitted to vote. Each elector was allowed to vote for four candidates in Tuesday night's meeting. All of the electors voted for the four who were selected for the delegate posts.

According to Wolf, secretary of the Madison County Democratic Central Committee, 18 delegates-at-large will be elected throughout Illinois on June 27 at a state Democratic convention in Springfield. A total of 108 delegates will attend the Kansas City convention from Illinois.

Venice board honors Davinroy

Leo Davinroy, president of the Venice Board of Education the past six years and a school board member for 27 years prior to his retirement this spring, was honored Monday evening with presentation of an engraved plaque at the board's regular meeting.

Davinroy, who did not seek re-election in April, was cited for his outstanding service to the community and children of Venice. The award was presented by Board President Jack Tolliver.

A journeyman carpenter, Davinroy lives at 1229 Klein St., Venice. He is married and the father of three daughters and two sons.

Beside his school board activities, including chairmanship of several committees, he is an active member of the Venice Lions Club, St. Mark's Holy Name Society, Venice-Madison American Legion Post 397, the Venice Crippled Children's Organization and the Venice Homecoming Association. He also is a member of the Carpenter's Union.

Use of the Venice business, the board appointed Albert Schaefer, a Venice High School guidance counselor, to the post of Junior College coordinator for District 3, and approved the attendance at junior college of James Shambro and James Harrell.

Use of the Venice School gymnasium for the city-sponsored summer recreational program was approved.

The series of weekday sessions for youngsters of all age levels began this week and will continue through Aug. 9 under the direction of Richard Essington, board members were advised.

The board accepted the resignation of Mrs. Christine McLean, a teacher in the Trainable Mentally Handicapped (TMH) program, and authorized payment of a total of $610 to 50 Venice teachers who worked at 1973-74 basketball games.

Financial transfers by resolution were made with $10,000 each transferred from the Title I Fund to the education and working cash funds, and $10,000 from working cash to education.

The Venice school calendar was approved for 1974-75. Pupils will return to classes on Monday, Aug. 26, continuing through June 5, 1975.

Five "snow days" were added to the calendar, Assistant Supt. Robert N. Vickers noted, explaining that should the days not be required for emergency closing the Venice District plans to dismiss school Dec. 23 and on May 31, 1975, instead of June 5.

Classes also will be dismissed on Labor Day, Sept. 2; Columbus Day, Oct. 14; District Institute, Oct. 18; Veterans Day, Nov. 11; Thanksgiving, Nov. 28 and 29.

Both semesters include 91 teaching days for a total of 182 days, plus three institute days, Vickers said.

BILLOWING SMOKE covers the Quad-City area on Tuesday as a fire rages out of control in warehouse facilities in Venice. By 7:30 p.m. Tuesday, when this photo was taken, the blaze had spread from its origin at the rear of the building to the dock area on Bissell Street. Firemen here are hampered by hot empty beer cans and bottles which fell from holes in the metal siding. A fireman on the ladder at right chops another hole in the siding through which fire hoses are to be directed.

An advanced social dance class is available at the Tri-City Area YMCA for couples or singles who would like to improve their dancing skills. Harold Rudolph, executive director, has announced.

The class will meet on Thursday nights during the summer, except July 4, from 8 to 10 o'clock in the auditorium, which is air-conditioned.

Key Jones is the instructor; she has had many years of experience in teaching social dance classes.

The fee for couples who are "Y" members is $20; non-members pay $25 and single participants $15.

Those interested may call the "Y" for registration or information at 876-7200.

'Y' plans trip to Six Flags

Boys and girls can spend a day at Six Flags Over Mid-America on Tuesday, July 2, through the Tri-City Area YMCA. "It will be a full day of fun and excitement," Mike Tharp, "Y" program director, comments.

Bus transportation will leave the "Y" at 9 a.m. and return at 5:30 p.m.

Leaders will be the summer staff of the "Y"; they will "provide supervision, care and safety, and make certain everyone has a good time," Tharp said.

A total fee for the day at Six Flags, including transportation, leadership and entry to the park, will be $7.50 for "Y" members and $8 for non-members. Each person will be responsible for his own lunch.

Youngsters may call the "Y" to register or to receive more information.

Deadline today for fireworks permit

Today is the last day for any group of three or more persons, residing in an unincorporated area of the county, to apply for a fireworks permit for a Fourth of July display at the office of County Clerk Eulalia Hotz at Edwardsville.

The State Law requires that an application for a permit must be made at least 15 days prior to the display.

The Illinois Laws require the display to be handled by a competent individual designated by the chairman of the County Board. Applicants are required to list three responsible persons who would be in charge of the fireworks.

Nelson Hagnauer, County Board chairman, designates one of the three to supervise the fireworks display.

ERA would not 'liberate' women

To the Editor:
The Equal Rights Amendment is being cruelly misrepresented to Americans as an "equal pay for equal work" measure and as a psychological statement of federal policy that will "liberate women from their oppressive second-class citizenship."
Nothing could be farther from the truth.
What ERA will really do is give women more responsibilities than they already have, as the states will be obliged to do away with laws that confer any kind of benefit upon women and at the same time must eliminate those laws that impose any kind of obligation upon men.
Under ERA, treating the sexes differently will be considered discriminatory.
It has been reported in Encore, a black newsmagazine, that black women are unenthusiastic about ERA because they already have more "liberation" than they want; however, they call it by its right name — responsibility — as they frequently work not by choice but out of the need to support their families.

They call ERA the "lifting and toting bill," which should give us some idea as to how liberating this amendment will be.
Equal pay for equal work is already guaranteed under existing and rigidly enforced federal laws — the Civil Rights Act, Equal Pay Act and Equal Employment Opportunity Act. Job discrimination is already illegal — more federal legislation in this area is not needed.
The National Enquirer took a poll regarding the ERA, and 86 per cent of those responding were against ratification.
The National Council of Catholic Women, 11 million strong, is against it, as is the Southern Baptist Association with 12 million members, the Illinois Federation of Women's Clubs with 56,000 Illinois members, and the Illinois Congress of Parents & Teachers with 400,000 Illinois members.

Six states defeated ERA during the past legislative session, and Tennessee became the second state to rescind its previous ratification.
This offers ample proof that an informed public is rejecting the amendment and the philosophy of those who claim to speak for all of us.
I sincerely hope that the residents of our good neighbor state of Illinois will swamp their legislators in Springfield with letters asking them to vote against ERA.

Thankful for a board with backbone

To the Editor:
In answer to the latest blaring of our wonderful School Board members' decision in the "streaking" episode, God bless every one of them.
Thank God we still have those who will maintain decency and oppose what has cost our country so much.
We need a backbone to hold our standards above the gutter. Our laws and our leadership all had seemed to have gone down the drain long ago.
As for the age of the offender, 15 seems to me old enough and above the boyish prank stage. It was not cute or laughable; it was sad.
Regarding the poor parents having to pay the fine, one of the Forum writers noted that he read the paper; the fine is to be worked out.
The boy commented earlier after finding out what his fine would probably be. He was brazen enough to say that he would make money on the deal because his friends would pay him, I believe, $65.
Two of the letters were "streaking is a harmless rite of spring" and "Did school overreact to boy's prank?" in the June 13 issue.
To the writers I really think it was too severe a punishment. Have people gotten to the point that they do not respect decency and also lack respect for the authority they have vested in the School Board?

Thank you, Granite City School Board, and thank God for men like you. Thanks also to the judge who made it a little rougher after the brazen remark.
I would rather not have my name used, but I am really frustrated and disturbed over the incident.
I haven't missed our wonderful Press-Record many times in the past 30 years or more. You are great, and we love it—every issue.

Emphasize sterilization, not slaughter

To the Editor:
It seems as if our Madison County Board is so obsessed with collecting money to gather dogs to send to research laboratories for experiments—and for rendering companies who recycle the carcass for tankage (food for livestock)—that they can't or won't consider a sterilization program because they may reduce these opportunities.
Are they so busy collecting our money to refund insurance companies and pay bounties that they can't serve the people or to prevent dogs that are not wanted from being born?
Are all of these other things so important that we must provide the money and the dogs for the county's program?
Is it possible that the county could better serve the general public in a dog birth control program?

If the county persists in providing dogs for experimentation for humans, then the only honorable thing the County Board could possibly do is to restrict all income from sacrificed dogs. Such revenue should be used to subsidize a low-cost sterilization program available to those volunteering to sterilize their pets.

Are wounded veterans now scorned?

To the Editor:
This letter is being written because we believe those people who placed their lives on the line so that free enterprise could grow in the good old U.S.A., have been dealt a blow in the form of a "wounded veterans" program.
The Quad-City area. They are the veterans of wars.

Poppy sales are conducted each year by veteran groups and the proceeds are used to support disabled veterans in hospitals, sick beds and elsewhere.
Generally, these sales are conducted at locations frequented by large groups of people: prominent corners, theaters and supermarkets.
Market would not permit the sale in front of their store, but told the representatives of the Veterans of Foreign Wars and the American Legion they could sell out in the parking lot.
That is like the signs in the South during World War II: "Soldiers, sailors and dogs, keep off the grass."
It would appear that a new business moving into our fair town would try to accommodate the people, especially these who gave so much, instead of showing disrespect.

We cannot recall a time when we are so rebuffed.

I guess that we veterans may as well accept the fact that we are not wanted; but we were not wanted; but we were badly needed, when we were the most precious group, and that was when bombs were being hurled near to our sacred shores.
Dec. 7, 1941, was undoubtedly a dark day in our history. Those young men, then giving so much, are now being treated as second-class citizens. We do not care about such a story either, if it does not cost a dime.

On-job training for special students

To the Editor:
Special education teachers and students of Granite City School District Nine were aided in 1973-74 by 23 employers and places of employment.
Their participation and cooperation in the special education secondary work training program enabled Brothers Home Improvement to be provided to 24 students in the 16-21 age group during the school year.
The students attended classes four hours a day in addition to reporting to jobs, for which credit was granted.
We are grateful for the learning experiences provided for these students through on-the-job training at these places of employment—

Collection cost rise seems too steep

To the Editor:
In the June 13 issue of the Press-Record, an article entitled "Trash Service to be cut" related that "the cost of garbage and trash collection in Granite City during the 1974-75 year will increase substantially."
Among the bids submitted, Milan East Corporation proposed rendering their service for fiscal 1974-75 for $348,000, approximately $3,000 or (3.13 per cent) over fiscal 1973-74 actual costs.
Similarly, Midwestern Service and Zykan Brothers submitted bids of $661,500 and $688,700 respectively for fiscal 1974-75 which are respectively $9,500 (36.4 per cent) and $123,767 (46.7 per cent) over the $264,500 current year expenditures.

After studying the above facts and figures, I as a taxpayer of this community would like to know (1) what additional services, if any, can the citizens of Granite City expect to receive for this increased cost of spending, and (2) have the alternatives been reviewed to determine what services if any could be eliminated but still maintain an acceptable level of sanitation and cleanliness within the community?
In conclusion, in a period of spiraling inflation, it is inevitable that costs will increase.
However, is a percentage increase of this magnitude—30 per cent, plus—acceptable to the citizens of this community?

Anti-pollution battle is not yet won

To the Editor:
Many of us take the air we breathe for granted, not realizing the dangerous small doses of pollution in the atmosphere.
I sincerely hope that the residents of our good neighbor state of Illinois will swamp their legislators in Springfield with letters asking them to vote against ERA.

Roberts noted that, with a staff of 115 people in the state air pollution control division, "half of our resources are used in Chicago and half of our division is devoted to surveillance."
Federal, state and local air pollution regulations and rules have been established with the cooperation of all segments of society.
Although the air has gotten better in some areas, much remains to be desired in our local populated industrial community.

Cycles too noisy on Madison Avenue

To the Editor:
I would like to say something about the unnecessary noise of the motorcycles. They go up and down Madison Avenue, belching out their awful noise.
We can't even have our television on. Why can't they go out on the highways and make that noise?
And why can't the mayor and the police do something about this? It's an awful place to live for people who have heart trouble.

Last year, there were five died in our area. We can't sell our homes; nobody wants to live on this street.
You can bet they can't make this noise in St. Louis. The people would stand for it. It sounds like the world is coming to an end, and it scares a person to death.
The cars go as fast as 80 miles an hour. It's just a horror to have to live on this street.

Disabled veteran appreciates mail

To the Editor:
I used to live in Granite City in 1959 for 11 months. The days have been long and lonely, since I haven't been receiving hardly any mail at all lately.
It would make me very happy if you would have my letter published in the Press-Record. I am a disabled veteran of World War II and had four operations before I had my left leg amputated. I had seven more operations after that. I have very poor circulation in my right leg and I lose it too. I would like to receive cards, letters or anything people would wish to send me to read to cheer me up.

It makes me happy to receive mail and it gives me something to look forward to.

Timid ethics progress in Illinois, compared to action by California voters

As Illinois legislators debate the proposed adoption of new ethics legislation, they have been considering whether to require disclosure of campaign gifts of $100 or more, as specified in a Senate bill, or $250 or more, as preferred by the House.
There has been concern that, if a spending limit is added, it will "improve" the proposal to the point that it loses all chance of enactment.
Certainly, existing economic statement requirements are inadequate and more teeth need to be added if the government ethics law is going to have much bite.
It may be that inclusion of a campaign spending limit would tip the scales toward defeat of the bills, and thus should be omitted so that some kind of disclosure rule can be put in to effect.

A limit should be written with extreme care to avoid any inappropriate advantage for officeholders or challengers, and take into account the spending by others to help a candidate.
Still, one wonders whether the Illinois General Assembly is moving as far and as fast in this direction as it should in the post-Watergate era.
The public apparently is eager for substantial ethics progress, judging by Californians' approval of a sweeping plan which includes a ceiling on donations and expenditures, restricts spending by incumbents to 90 per cent of what their challengers spend, bans cash or anonymous contributions of more than $50, and requires full disclosure of the sources of all donations.

Disclosure of 'phantom' scouts shows need to reappraise national policies

"A scout is trustworthy, loyal, helpful, friendly, courteous, kind, obedient, cheerful, thrifty, brave, clean and reverent." If the Boy Scout actually exists, that is.
In Chicago and certain other scout councils primarily those in metropolitan areas, phantom scouts and units are registered, apparently for two reasons.
In a few instances, federal anti-poverty funds have been made available for "inner city" scout troops and other organizations, and the bigger the number of youngsters served, the more money that could be obtained.
Also, Boypower '76 requirements, part of an eight-year expansion program launched in 1969, were so difficult to attain and yet so rigidly enforced that some executives cheated, rather than facing virtually automatic firing for failure to meet goals.
The good news is that the Cahokia Mound Council is not among those charged with deviating from its "trustworthy" and "clean" ideals to doctor up registration rolls. The bad news is that the local council has not escaped entirely from damage caused by unrealistic or excessively dictatorial national policies.
An example is the national pressure to put councils of reasonable size on the scrap heap and replace them with gigantic organizations centered around big population centers, such as St. Louis. The move offers a poorer quality program at higher cost for fewer boys, based on most comparisons and estimates that can be made. Yet, destructive pressure tactics continue.
In Chicago, massive financial deficits have developed and many scouting professionals have been fired, either for cause or due to lack of funds.
Even worse, scouting services are not actually reaching thousands of Chicago boys listed as being served. In many cases, cheating administrators were retained in good standing and some honorable executives were cast out of the scouting movement.

A question that comes to mind is: "If the concept of huge councils centered at big cities is so good, why isn't it working in Chicago and a number of other places?"
The issue also focuses attention on the belief that government, and almost everything else, for that matter, is better close to home. In the Cahokia Mound Council, the people of Bond County and southern Madison County know each other well and are familiar with the names of leaders, boys and sponsoring units appearing on scout records. In a council of faceless names and immense proportions, fewer will know it if phony statistics begin to appear.
Boypower '76 has a lot to recommend itself. It will be fine if, in the U.S. bicentennial year, a third of the available boy crop is being served meaningfully by well-trained volunteers of adequate numbers, in subjects relevant to effective living, not only for survival in the wilderness but for coping with urban challenges.
But Chief Executive Alden Barber should keep in mind that the real value of scouting is what happens in the hearts, minds and skills of boys and young men, not in stacks of copy putter reports whose figures taken too literally can lead to chicanery, "paralysis of the analysis" and mistaken conclusions.
Scouting's 1974 cheating scandal can have a positive effect if it leads to reappraisal and reform. Quantity as well as quality is important, as Mr. Barber notes, but neither is achieved if supposed troops do not exist or if dedicated volunteer scouts are badgered by national representatives into dropping out of the program.

Bigger role for chemotherapy in developing cure for cancer

(American Association for the Advancement of Science)
In 1954, only one in four cancer patients could expect to have his or her survival extended five years or more by effective therapy. Today, this proportion has risen to one in three and it is still rising.
A large fraction of the 30 per cent increase in "cure" rate is attributed to advances in cancer chemotherapy.
In "Science," the weekly journal of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, staff writer Thomas H. Maugh II discusses use of chemicals in the treatment of cancers, and the advances that have come about because of these drugs over the past 20 years.
Surgery and radiation have always been and still are the primary forms of cancer therapy.
Surgery is most frequently used on tumors, and is successful for certain types of malignancies such as skin and breast cancer.
Radiation is particularly useful for treating internal solid tumors, such as cancer of the eye or Hodgkin disease, especially if detected early.

Both surgery and radiotherapy, however, are reaching the limits of their development—especially since they are generally useful only against localized tumors.
Chemotherapy, on the other hand, is beginning to have a substantial impact on cancer therapy.
There were six anti-cancer drugs in clinical use in 1954, none of which could produce substantive improvements in large numbers of patients.
Now approximately 40 active drugs are used to treat cancer, and so far for which clinical testing has begun, and another 30 that are in earlier testing stages.
There also are at least 10 types of cancer in which a significant proportion of patients can live at least five years longer with drugs, and the median period of survival is increasing in a number of others.
A problem confronting chemotherapists, says Maugh, is their poor public image. For example, because of ethical considerations, untried drugs were used only on patients for whom all other forms of therapy had failed.

Frequently, the prolongation of suffering and the side effects that accompanied use of the drugs were viewed as cruel, resulting in bitterness and skepticism toward chemotherapy.
These early investigations, however, laid a strong foundation for future research.
Initial successes were made in the treatment of cancers for which the prognosis was poor, such as leukemia and lymphomas—in which malignant white blood cells produced by bone marrow and the lymph glands are disseminated.
These early successes were not amenable to traditional forms of therapy, and chemotherapists were able to begin treatment as soon as the tumors were diagnosed.

Not only were these malignancies treated successfully, but several new principles of chemotherapy evolved and have recently been applied to other types of tumors.
One principle is that chemotherapy is most successful against small tumors in very early stages. This is true whether chemotherapy alone is used, or if it is combined with other techniques.
Also significant, explains Maugh, is that appropriate combinations of drugs are more effective than single agents.

Thorngate Club holds guest day

Members and guests dressed in "hobo garb" of patched pants, old shirts with neck bandanas and funny little hats attended the annual guest day of Thorngate Garden Club held at the country home of Mrs. Betty King, club president.

After registration, each member and guest was given a knapsack made of red or blue bandanas, containing a plastic cup and bowl, attached to a long stick. The items were used at lunch and retained as favors.

Individual tables were covered with newspaper comic pages and centered with large bouquets of roadside flowers.

All were escorted to the kitchen where each helped herself to "old fashioned" beef stew. Coffee was served from an old granite coffee pot.

Indoor games followed the luncheon with prizes going to Mrs. Blanche Revelle and Mrs. Clara Winter. When the "hobos" changed to lawn games, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Lillian Delp, Mrs. Beulah Miller, Mrs. Ruth Knapp and Lawana Roth.

Representing the Garden Study Club were Clara Winter, Lida Theis and Mary Mang. Cloverview Club members attending were Barbara Bradley, Marge O'Neill and

Student walkathon raises $5,100

Mrs. Glen Chaboude, chairman of the Granite City March of Dimes Committee, this week announced that more than $5,100 has been raised to date by Granite City students from the Walkathon project held last month to aid the National March of Dimes Foundation's 1974 campaign.

Sponsored by the Student Councils of Granite City High School North and South, the Walkathon was under the general direction of Harry Cook, council advisor at North High, who served in the same capacity last year.

Serving as student chairman for 1974 are Brent Weiss of North High and Kenne Kibort representing South school. High school students were aided in the project by pupils from Prather, Grigsby and Coolidge junior high schools.

Both local student councils will be honored at the annual organization meeting of the Madison County March of Dimes Chapter later this year, Mrs. Chaboude said. A special trophy will be presented by Milton Morris, county chairman.

In a recent ceremony, an engraved plaque was awarded to the Madison County Tavern Owners Association by Bryan Isaac, 1974 poster child.

The award, inscribed "for outstanding service" to the March of Dimes for 1973-74, was accepted by Mrs. Caroline Hudgens, association secretary-treasurer and drive chairman, and Mrs. Anne Renack, co-chairman. Charles Hester is president of the county association. All three are from Granite City.

Special appreciation awards also were presented to the Shriner's Aired Compact Motorcycle Unit; Explorer Post 2801; Amvets Post 51; Moose Lodge 272; Granite City Steel; The Nestle Co., Inc.; A. O. Council provides lectures on Alcoholism, drug dependency

The Madison County Council on Alcoholism and Drug Dependency completed the second part of a pilot program (or the Social Studies department of Granite City High School North with the conclusion of the 1973-74 school year.

The program incorporated a new concept in drug education rather than a one time "end-of-the-year" lecture, consisting of four seminars which included sociological and psychological aspects of alcohol and drug use were presented in lectures, discussion and active participation by the students.

Chouteau budget down

A $96,965 combined town fund and general assistance budget for the 1974-75 fiscal year was approved by the Chouteau Township Board of Auditors Monday night. No changes were made from the budgets as posted for public inspection.

During a public hearing on the budget prior to the regular meeting, Bill Thoele of Mitchell asked the board if it felt expenses and the $6,000 salary for a collector were necessary since the Madison County treasurer's office offered collection services.

Walter T. "Dick" Sparks, township supervisor, explained that the experiences of other Quad City townships had shown a township collector cost less than using the county collection method.

He said last year Chouteau Township retained a collector while Nameoki and Grants townships were among those who allowed Madison County to collect their taxes.

This year, both Nameoki and Grants City townships reinstated the collector in their budgets and estimate they will save collection costs by collecting taxes themselves, Sparks said.

The combined budgets approved by the board are $3,862 lower than the $102,827 budgeted for town fund and general assistance purposes in the last fiscal year.

The newly approved town fund budget appropriates $62,430 for town fund purposes, up $4,583 from the $57,847 budgeted last year. A surplus of $25,491 from last year is to be applied toward the new budget.

General assistance dropped $8,455 from the $45,020 budgeted last year to $36,565 in the document approved Monday night. Included is a surplus of $28,813 from last year which made the reduction possible, according to Sparks.

Also approved was a $30,000 federal revenue sharing budget, earmarking all of the money for erecting town buildings, driveways, building administration and insurance. A new township garage is being constructed with the money and with revenue sharing funds from last year.

Town fund items, with the appropriation for each, follow:

Salaries—Supervisor, $1,800; clerk, $3,000; assessor, $8,000; collector, $6,000; highway commissioner, $6,000; Board of Auditors, $6,000 (total); trustee commissioner, $300; supervisor of general assistance, $3,700; road district treasurer, $500; health officer, $250; and additional personnel, $3,000.

Other administration—Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund, $7,500; workmen's compensation, $200; rental of buildings, $100; equipment maintenance, $100; general insurance, $800; telephone, $180; rentals, $2,000; travel expenses, $2,000; printing, $800; legal services, $600; auditing, $1,000; officials' bonding, $1,200; training, $2,000; dues and subscriptions, $500; a farm census, $100; office supplies, $1,000; miscellaneous expenses, $500; equipment purchases, $1,000.

The total for administration in the new budget is $60,130. Election—judges' salaries, $1,000; supplies, $600; and rental of polling places, $200. The total for elections was $1,800. Provision for contingencies—$500.

The general assistance fund provides $7,465 for administration. Included are:

salaries (excluding elected officials), $3,900; equipment maintenance, $400; telephone, $250; rental, $400; travel expenses, $175; office supplies, $200; miscellaneous expenses, $400; equipment purchases, $400; and municipal retirement, $1,200.

The general assistance budget also includes $22,500 for home relief, including: medical care, $750; telephone, $100; utilities, sewer and refuse collection, $1,600; rental, $3,000; travel expenses, $300; food, $15,000; clothing, $500; transient expenses, $500; and burial expenses, $750.

A total of $6,100 is provided for institutional care, including $2,000 for private hospital expenses, $2,000 for convalescent homes, $1,000 for ambulance services and $2,000 for the county home.

Also included in the general assistance fund is $500 for contingencies.

The prestigious Sloan Fellowships are designed to make possible fundamental advances in research by exceptionally talented young scientists at an early stage of their careers. The Fellows will be supported for two years at an

INSTALLING FENCING for the new Pontoon Beach Lions' Club park in the village were, from left, Dale Hayden, Bob Cuvar, Nameoki Township Supervisor Louis Whitsell, Village Zoning Inspector Jerry Henderson, Village Board President and Lions' President Floyd David Moss, Don Gardner and Walt Morgan. The club has purchased three lots for a playground 210 feet by 115 feet, around which fencing has been completed. The state has agreed to install a guardrail along Route 111 to protect children from the traffic between Eastgate and Georgetown Drives. Moss and Village Trustee Donald C. Care needed in pickling

Pickling fruits and vegetables can be a good way to preserve large quantities of them. Below are several common problems and how to avoid them:

Slippery or soft pickles may result from using too little vinegar or a very weak vinegar solution; using too little salt; failing to remove the scum on top of the brine during fermentation; failing to keep cucumbers covered with brine; using moldy garlic or spices; failing to remove blossoms from cucumbers before fermentation; storing pickles in too warm a place; or over-processing or under-processing the pickles.

Shriveled pickles may also be caused by overcooking or overprocessing your pickles; using very strong vinegar, sugar or salt solutions at the start of the pickling process; holding cucumbers too long between gathering and pickling. Hollow pickles result when poorly developed cucumbers are used. Other reasons for hollow pickles are cucumbers that are not fresh or were allowed to stand too long before pickling; fermenting at too high a temperature; or using either a too strong or too weak brine during fermentation.

A cloudy appearance or white sediment may occur from use of salt that contains an antiseptic ingredient; not controlling the temperature throughout the pickling process; or by yeasts settling to the bottom. A small amount of sediment is normal and safe. However, if pickles have become soft, they are spoiled.

If a red color develops, it may be the result of Halophilic bacteria or a yeast growth on the food. This can be prevented by using fresh, clean, carefully scrubbed equipment and by covering the pickles with brine.

Dark pickles are caused by mineral in the water—especially iron, using iron cooking utensils; ground spices or spices not in a bag; too much spice; overcooking; or iodized salt.

A dull or faded color is usually the result of water that contains iron, low-quality vinegar, poor-quality cucumbers, or sun-scalded or poorly-colored cucumbers.

Extremely sour pickles are frequently produced from old recipes based on "old-time ingredients," or by using vinegar of unknown acidity. You should use a high-grade cider or white vinegar of 4 to 6 percent acidity. The label will indicate the percentage of acidity.

There are many reasons for spoiled pickles. The most common ones are failing to pasteurize or heat process your pickles in some other way; using poor quality ingredients; or failing to use standard jars and new lids. Gas-producing bacteria and yeasts may also cause spoilage.

MR. AND MRS. DANIEL LOWERY, whose wedding was solemnized at St. John Lutheran Church. The bride is the former Miss Barbara Azari, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Azari, 3021 Edgewood Ave.

Lowery-Azari wedding at St. John Lutheran

The Rev. Samuel Boda officiated at a double ring ceremony on June 8 at St. John Lutheran Church, uniting in marriage Miss Barbara Azari and Daniel Lee Lowery.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Azari Jr., 3021 Edgewood Ave., and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Lowery, 227 South 13th St., Chesterton, Ind.

Preceding the 6 o'clock evening ceremony Mrs. Carol Potter sang "The Wedding Song," "Color My World" and "The Lord's Prayer," accompanied at the organ by Mrs. Judy Owens.

Lavender bows accented the altar candelabra, holding burning tapers, and the aisle standards. The altar was decorated with bouquets of white mums and lavender pom-poms.

Serving as candlelighters were Bob Azari and John Lowery.

Escorted down the white carpeted aisle and given in marriage by her father, the former Miss Azari chose a long A-line gown of pure white silk shantung created with a modified bodice, high neckline and long, tapered sleeves.

Delicate lace trimmed the neckline and cuffs and formed a bib effect on the bodice. A hemline border of lace enhanced the skirt that extended into a full sweep train. A bejeweled lace headband held in place her veil of silk illusion, and she carried a teardrop cascade of white Elegance carnations, pink roses and purple statice.

Maid of honor Miss Sharon Azari, a sister of the bride, and the bridesmaids, Miss Sandy Lowery, the groom's sister, and Mrs. Heather Reed, a cousin of the bride, were gowned alike in lavender dotted Swiss dresses.

Their frocks were designed with round necklines edged with a tiny ruffle. The long sleeves were tightly gathered into wide buttoned cuffs. A set-in midriff accented the fully gathered skirts, fashioned with a wide ruffled flounce at the hem.

Colonial bouquets of daisies, white and pink carnations, and purple statice.

Two poems were read by the officers and a flag ceremony was held by the worthy matron and the five star point officers.

Mrs. McClintock said the June 28 meeting will be an official visit preceded by a dinner. Reservations are to be made with Mrs. Mary Bilbrey.

After the rituals, refreshments were served in the dining room by Louise Meador and Bonnie Fischer. Table appointments were in keeping with the flag theme and favors were lapel flag pins and puzzles.

Doc Severinsen and the New Generation Brass have been scheduled to appear at the Mississippi River Festival Sunday evening, July 7, at 8:30, making them the opening concert of the MRF season. Lyle Ward, concert manager, announced. Severinsen and his group originally were to perform Friday, July 26.

Appearing with Severinsen and the New Generation Brass also will be the singing group, Today's Children. Persons who have purchased tickets to the original Severinsen date on July 26 must exchange their tickets at the University Center box office (only). Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville, either by mail or in person. The July 26 date is expected to be filled with another family night entertainment act, Ward said. Several additions to the Festival's schedule also were announced. Due to the death last month of conductor-composer Duke Ellington who was to appear with his orchestra at the Festival on Aug. 16, the date will be billed as A Tribute To Duke Ellington Night with the original Duke Ellington Orchestra, under the direction of Mercer Ellington. Sarah Vaughan will be the special guest star with the orchestra.

Song-writer and singer Paul Williams will appear on Friday, July 19 with Helen Reddy. Among his songs which are high on the record charts are: "I Won't Last a Day Without You," "Here Comes Inspiration," and "What Would They Say."

Barn owls nearing extinction

Add the barn owl to the list of species teetering at the edge of extinction.

Some help may be on the way, but it may be too late for the barn owl in Illinois. The barn owl, at one time a common sight around most farms, just haven't been able to fight back against an unlikely combination of adversaries ranging from superstitious, to pollution control measures, cats and business like farming.

Vernon Kleen, in the division of wildlife resources with the Illinois conservation department, says that between 1954 and 1972, 536 separate Christmas bird counts were taken around the state. All that bird-watching by competent people produced only 16 barn owls being sighted in the 18 years.

One cause is thought to be the cleaning up of farms and farming which cut down on both nesting places and food supply. Barn owls feed on meadow mice and other small, nocturnal field rodents which used to thrive on farm residue, but now have been poisoned out of existence, or had their numbers drastically reduced by clean-ups which lessened their forage.

During the day, the nocturnal owls need shelter, for which they formerly used the big old barns from which they derive their name. They also like old trees, big enough to have large cavities where a pair of owls could nest and raise their fledglings.

Today's farms seldom feature the big barn with an over-flowing hayloft, and big old dead trees and stumps are often removed. Today's new silos and barns aren't as easy for an owl to enter.

Cats, which also like field mice and other small night-time rodents, compete with owls for food supplies, and in their hunting often disturb nesting adults and destroy nests.

One of the most unlikely reasons for the owls' predicament is a widespread belief among many people that any creature which becomes active only at night is "evil" and therefore should be destroyed. Too many people also classify all hawks and owls as vermin which should be eradicated, not realizing their value, Kleen said.

Kleen urges an immediate campaign to protect the few barn owls know left in the state, and to encourage the increase in their population. Toward this end, he recommends that anyone knowing where a barn owl is nesting let him know.

Then, anyone wanting to participate in the "save the barn owl" campaign, should construct a nesting structure inside a barn (after securing the owners' cooperation, if the barn belongs to someone else.)

A simple, easily constructed and highly successful nesting box has been designed by Laurel Van Camp of the Ohio department of natural resources, Kleen said, which uses a large supporting beam in the barn as the box bottom, and the barn side for a wall. The other sides and the top are made from two 12 inch by 4 foot boards, with the top hinged so the box can be checked, and cleaned out. A five or six inch hole is the cut into the barn side, letting the birds enter and leave away from the busy barn entrance, and by providing no entry into the box inside the barn, keeps the nesting box from littering the inside of the barn. It also keeps the box cat-proof.

Anyone requiring additional information, or having information to provide about barn owls, may contact Kleen at the state office building in Springfield. He has asked anyone participating in the plan to save the owls from extinction to contact him about results, to provide a central clearing place for information.

Plans for 1975-76 include opening new buildings, business doctorate

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will ask the Illinois Board of Higher Education to approve a budget request of $1,229,784 for new and expanded academic programs for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1975.

The SIU Board of Trustees approved the request Thursday, subject to modifications it may make as a result of its review of other sections of the budget request for the 1975-76 fiscal year.

The BHE has established July 1, 1974, as the deadline by which it should receive all budget requests for funding of new and expanded academic programs and special analytical studies for the following year. Other portions of the operating budget request will be forwarded to the BHE later.

Under the analytical studies section, the trustees authorized requests totaling $980,282 in one-time appropriations to bring SIUE faculty salaries in line with pay at other similar institutions and to make civil service pay scales competitive with those paid by State of Illinois code departments.

Trustees also approved a proposed new formula for calculation of costs of operating and maintaining campus buildings, along with a request for $806,414 to operate two new classroom and office buildings expected to be occupied by the fall of 1975.

The requests for new and expanded academic programs include $92,020 for continuing education, $238,973 for urban and problem-solving curricula, $270,900 for academic support programs, $435,741 for health-related programs and $131,150 for new degree programs.

Under the continuing education category, SIUE is seeking $61,100 to support expansion of off-campus resident center enrollment and continued operation of the Open University Program. Both will be funded during the fiscal year beginning July 1 through internal reallocation of funds.

A total of $30,920 is requested to continue the Teachers' Center Project now being funded by a grant from the National Science Foundation.

The university is seeking

$54,200 for a planned Institute for Urban and Regional Studies, $66,500 for the master's degree program in urban studies, $113,000 for the master's degree program in environmental studies, $36,583 for expansion of the bachelor of arts program in human services and $18,610 for expansion of the bachelor of science in sanitation technology program.

The urban studies program will be partially funded by the state in the next fiscal year. The environmental studies program is now awaiting approval by the BHE.

In the academic support category, SIUE is asking for $117,500 to improve audio-visual services provided for classroom and laboratory use, $45,100 for expansion of the data processing and computer center, $92,300 to support the Supplemental Instruction Program, and $16,000 for a special program for minority engineering students. The SIP and engineering programs are designed to meet special needs of students with deficiencies in preparation for university work.

The university request for health-related program funds includes $204,000 for increased support for the School of Dental Medicine, $121,131 for the new master of science program in biochemistry and clinical biochemistry, $102,610 for improvement in the School of Nursing's undergraduate, graduate and continuing education programs, and $8,000 for pathology training.

Under the new degrees category, SIUE is asking for $42,000 for a bachelor of science in industrial engineering program, $31,750 for a doctor of arts degree program in physical science, with a concentration in physics, and $57,400 for a doctor of arts in business program.

The analytical studies portion of the budget request includes: salary data from 14 Midwest institutions similar in size and scope to SIUE which shows the university needs a one-time allocation of $191,442 for equity adjustments in faculty salaries.

The adjustments would bring SIUE faculty salaries to a level comparable to that of the other institutions in the study. This request is exclusive of any funds for merit increases.

A comparison of SIUE civil service salaries and State of Illinois code department employee salaries which shows SIUE deficient in 29 out of 30 job classifications. The deficiencies range from 3 per cent to 30 per cent in the job classifications surveyed.

According to the study, SIUE will need $768,840 in fiscal 1975-76 to bring the university civil service salaries in line with Illinois code department salaries. The increase is exclusive of any request for merit increases.

"It is foolhardy for universities to expect to be able to secure and retain the high calibre of manpower required to support the academic excellence desired by all, without corresponding commitment and ability to pay that manpower equitable salaries for services performed," the study report to be forwarded to the BHE says.

A new formula approach to funding operational and maintenance costs of campus buildings. The BHE has been using a statewide formula which allocates $1.70 per square foot per year for operation and maintenance of new buildings.

In 1971, SIUE actually spent $2.06 per square foot for operation and maintenance. The formula proposed by SIUE provides for such things as janitor service, building maintenance, renewal and replacement, utilities, grounds, fire protection and security.

It would require an additional allocation of $806,414 to operate and maintain the two new classroom and office buildings to be occupied by SIUE in the fall of 1975.

The SIUE study calls attention to a need to consider varying locations, varying operating conditions and construction differences in arriving at proper funding for building operation and maintenance.

Testimony says 'chief' an obstacle to effective university service

Impending loss of autonomy for Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville could hurt the local university and region in a variety of ways, a number of witnesses testified at last week's public hearing on the issue.

Dr. Laurence R. McNamery of the SIUE Physics Department commented about the "variety of moods on the evolution toward freedom in conventional and competing ways for the people of Illinois" in his remarks at the hearing.

"The opportunity to carry out (needed programs) is denied" under a governing document adopted by the SIUE Board in January, he said.

"I am less concerned with lines of authority and flow charts than another level of authority between the faculty and the board. Someone who does not have his hand daily in the affairs of this campus" suggested a "shift in the role of the chief administrative power," he told the SIUE trustees.

Faculties, the educator concluded his statement by commenting that the professional faculty needs "someone on campus they can blame, without the buck being passed."

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD
Thurs., June 20, 1974 Page 36

Prof. David Huntley, chairman of the SIUE Art Department and a 12-year faculty member, noted that "a good many discussions and recommendations have too much regard for the present personalities involved and less on total university goals and ambitions."

He said each university campus should be "free to establish its own goals, face its own needs and situations and communicate directly with the board of trustees." He said a new executive officer between the SIUE and SIUC presidents and the board would be "one above the campuses, to a system that encourages indigenous, self-determined commonalities and differences."

"This would require an executive secretary from each campus to insure articulation with the board trustees."

"We believe we need to move away from a single academic officer presiding over both campuses in the Morris pattern, so pivotal and appropriate to the state of the development of the system at one time, but a stage through which we have passed."

"The commonwealth conception of system, of board role and hence of top academic officerships and functions—an alternative to what has been stated in the document 'Board and Executive Officer Relationships,' we believe is worthy of your most careful consideration, together with that of the faculties of both campuses."

Dr. Villemain suggested formation of an all-university faculty committee that would report back to the board no later than September after separate and joint meetings and consultations on both campuses.

"Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville is the child of Carbondale," Dr. Villemain said. "It was nourished by this tie and has now come of age."

"We need to become a free-standing, fully self-determined being."

"We respectfully request that the board pause to consider, with the faculties, if it is not now time to cut the 'umbilical cord' and thus avoid academic pathology and secure the academic health and growth of the Edwardsville campus."

Gene D. Allsup, associate professor in the schools of education and humanities at SIUE, also speaking for several senior faculty members, said, "The administrative pattern that we have had and that you have before you will not permit our presidents to fully represent the 'facilities' strength, weaknesses, objectives and potentials for service."

"The additional administrative layer between the presidents and the board will force them to engage in political gambits that can only be counter-productive and utterly removed from the vital interests and competencies of the faculties."

"It would be more efficient and would remove the frustration if the presidents would report directly to the board with no management layer in between."

"In this way, the presidents could be more responsive and responsible to their faculties, and the faculties would feel secure in that their expectations were being fully represented."

"The failure to have such access over the past few years has caused the faculty to seek extra-university arrangements."

"There is at this moment a growing movement on this campus to organize and to affiliate with national professional organizations."

Dr. Allsup continued, "You should be aware that morale on this campus is at its lowest ebb in the past several years and it cannot all be attributed to the meager salary increases which we were granted."

"Unless we can be led by a president who has the unfettered authority to represent us, the morale situation can only deteriorate further."

"Finally, as a former administrator with almost a quarter-century spent in the education profession I would submit to you that unless there are clear, well-established lines of authority between the board and its faculties, which we do not now have, faculty production suffers, morale drops and the students—who are the final recipients of all our actions—are the losers."

Prior to the adoption of a motion establishing a committee to propose recommendations to assure "maximum autonomy" of the two campuses, considerable discussion took place among SIUE board members, with several motions voiced before final adoption.

Harold R. Fischer of Granite City, noting that he "never had been 100 per cent in favor of the present document," said he had personally invited the opinion of anyone involved and interested in the issue.

"I am for autonomy, not for a super president," Fischer said. "I think presidents should run their own universities. Let a committee then propose a document that satisfies these contingencies."

"We made many errors in this document and in the original document," he said. "I believe this document can be corrected to achieve what is wanted."

An SIUE staff member speaking from the floor commented, "This is the first time I am aware that this board wants autonomy."

His remarks elicited comments on variations in the meaning of "autonomy" and an explanation by Board Member Allen on why SIUE has a single appropriations bill rather than multiple financial budgets like the other university systems in Illinois and elsewhere.

"The board felt it politic to keep the two campuses together, especially budget-wise. The present system is preferable for today," Allen said.

Speaking on the committee to revise the present executive office document, if composed of constituency groups, Fischer commented, "There is little inference in the statements made by the constituencies to show anything other than that we are not going to have a super president."

Local retention of educational problem-solving ability urged

Unless the trend for greater state control over education is reversed or modified, "schools in this nation may suffer a loss of problem-solving capability which historically has flourished under a time-tested system of local control over schools," Dr. Bakalis said.

Illinois School Supt. Michael J. Bakalis sounded this warning during the weekend at a national meeting of chief state school officers sponsored by the U.S. Office of Education.

"While it has become increasingly obvious in recent years that states must assume a greater role in the financing, goal setting and evaluation of schools, it has been less obvious that the entire educational system is endangered by unbridled state control over schools," Dr. Bakalis said.

What is at stake in the growing power of state education office is the traditional interest and involvement on the part of citizens in the local educational decision making process, he said.

"Also endangered is the opportunity for locally-elected school officials to solve problems in a spontaneous manner."

Educators and others, Bakalis said, often fail to realize that larger state roles in education do not automatically have to mean less control at the local level.

"There is no contradiction in a state education office assuming the active leadership and financing role necessary today while still maintaining—and even enhancing—the authority of local school boards," Dr. Bakalis said.

States must provide — by rule, if need be — mechanisms to enhance the self-governing capabilities of local communities and boards and to establish the nature and quality of their children's educational opportunities, he said.

He added that in Illinois the state education office has done much to strengthen community involvement in schools and to bolster administrators' and boards' abilities to operate schools as they choose, independent of the state.

"We have attempted at every opportunity to 'build in' local schools by requiring school officials to open avenues for communicating with the citizens," he said.

"This approach has been accepted favorably by most administrators and is gaining acceptance as it is followed."

Dr. Bakalis said schools can be given greater freedom of self-governance if states lead the way toward abolishing mandates which constitute long lists of required courses that often hamper freedom and flexibility of local schools.

"Perhaps this is the best way to show that we at the state level have faith in local officials and citizens," the Illinois school chief said.

"We must somehow allow for more local initiative, but balance this with the state's necessary supervisory role, which is, in part, to see that this freedom is not abused and that constitutional guarantees for a quality education for all are assured."

"To most people in this nation, education represents one of the last remaining bastions of local democratic self-control," Bakalis said.

"It is a unit of local government in which people really feel they have some voice—and this fragile privilege should be protected, not destroyed by state offices."

Finally, Bakalis cautioned the state education chiefs not to lead people to expect too much of their schools.

"Viewed objectively, schools in this country have been highly successful—even though much dissatisfaction about schools is heard," he said.

"This growing negative attitude toward schools has resulted to a large degree from excessively raised expectations about the schools' capabilities to solve all of our social and economic ills."

"It is time educators stopped promising so much and did a better job with those things that schools can really affect."

Schedule SIUE report for fall

The Board of Trustees of Southern Illinois University adopted motions last week establishing a committee to propose recommendations to assure maximum autonomy of the two SIU campuses, at Carbondale and Edwardsville.

The committee, which is to be organized "as soon as possible," will consist of 10 persons from each campus. At Carbondale, one representative will be named by each of seven constituency groups and three by the Faculty Senate.

At SIUE, all 10 members will be appointed by the president of the University Senate, with the understanding that they will be representative of all constituent groups.

The committee is charged specifically with the responsibility of suggesting any revisions in the basic document on board and executive officer relationships that are deemed necessary to assure maximum autonomy of each university within the SIU system.

The recommendations are to be submitted at the September meeting of the Board of Trustees. A revised version of the board and executive officer relationships document was adopted by the trustees in January, and the board requested comments from heads of constituent groups on both campuses within 90 days. At the May session of the board, it was decided that a public hearing would be held at the June meeting, with representatives of the administrations of both campuses and all SIUE and SIUC constituencies provided an opportunity to present their views.

After hearing the views expressed Thursday, with 12 groups represented, the trustees adopted motions to establish a procedure permitting suggestions for revisions in the governance document and providing methods for appointment of the study committee.

Those who addressed the trustees at the public hearing included: Jon Booker of the SIUC Graduate Council; Rosemarie Archangel, SIUE University Senate; Gene Allsup, associate professor educational administration, SIUE; Earl Stibitz, SIUC Faculty; and David Huntley, chairman of the art department, SIUE; Francis Villanain, professor of foundations of education, SIUE; and Curt Simic, executive director of the SIUC Foundation; Jeff Tilden, SIUC Graduate Student Council.

Gale Buenger, immediate past-president of the SIUE Alumni Association; and Don Gladden, SIUC Civil Service Employees Council.

Ivan A. Elliott Jr., chairman of the Board of Trustees, was the only member of the board who voted against the motion to establish a procedure to suggest revisions in the governance document.

He said he does not feel the motion calls for any basic change in thrust, and he expressed fear that the action would hinder the search for a president at the Carbondale campus.

Elliott agreed with other members of the board who commented that they are in favor of autonomy for the two campuses, but he said, "It's a matter of defining autonomy."

Proposals for bus aid vary

A $2,717,000 appropriation bill to aid Downstate Illinois public mass transit systems has been proposed by the administration of Gov. Daniel Walker. The bill, including $1.6 million for the Bi-State Transit System, is being cosponsored in the Senate by Senators Sam Vadala (D-Edwardsville) and Kenneth Hall (D-East St. Louis).

If adopted, it would allow transit systems, including Bi-State, to apply for matching state funds for up to half of the systems' operating losses. A $3.2 million program for Bi-State aid has been proposed by Rep. Horace Calvo (D-Granite City) and Gov. Walker's administration has pledged to give Calvo's bill "careful consideration" before making any decision on funding for Downstate transportation.

Meanwhile, two groups have filed a joint suit in federal court in St. Louis to halt all federal funds to Bi-State for new buses until new steps to end alleged discrimination in transit operations have been adopted. One group is composed of black bus drivers and the other of black contractors.

MOTORCYCLIST HURT
Christ Tayan, 21, of 1635 Edison Ave., was hurt in a motorcycle accident and was treated at St. Elizabeth Hospital for injuries to his left knee and ankle and abrasions to his right leg. A series of x-rays were taken and he was released.

AWARD PRESENTATION. Technical Sergeant Edward W. Daech, left, 73rd Aeromedical Airlift Squadron, Scott AFB, receives the outstanding reserve medical airman of the year award from Major General John W. Hoff, commander, Central Air Force Reserve Region, headquartered at Ellington AFB, Tex. The award was presented during the Central Region's Medical Conference in Fort Worth, Tex.

Daech presented highest Air Force Reserve award

Edward W. Daech, son of Mrs. Antoinette M. Metz, 1924 Grand Ave., and a medical technician in the domestic aeromedical evacuation system of the Air Force's Military Airlift Command, has received the highest Air Force Reserve Award.

Daech received the Air Force Reserve Outstanding Medical Airman of the Year award for outstanding professional participation in training reserve medical airmen and in the airlifting of Department of Defense patients within the United States, including flights transporting POW returnees.

Daech earned the award as the non-commissioned officer in charge of orientation, recruiting, and retention for the "Flying Hospital" program of the 922 Aeromedical Airlift Group (Assoc) (Reserve). The group, alongside their active duty counterparts, is responsible for airlifting Department of Defense patients to and from military and civilian hospitals for specialized treatment. These patients are widely varied:

- an infant born premature requiring special treatment;
- a Veterans Administration hospital patient dying of cancer;
- a young airman critically injured in an automobile accident;
- a severely burned child requiring treatment at the burn center in San Antonio, Tex.

Each year more than 60,000 sick or wounded servicemen or their dependents are airlifted by the combined active duty and reserve medical airmen.

Daech's ground duties as a medic and his participation in the attainment of 100 per cent medical technician training for the 922 AAG (Assoc). His approach to recruiting fostered an excellent relationship between the United States Air Force and the surrounding community. In recognition of his effectiveness he was awarded an Air Force Reserve Certificate of Recognition.

Daech's standards of military appearance, conduct and job performance have influenced the achievements of the 922 AAG (Assoc). Daech has become a part of the mission of the Aeromedical Evacuation Unit, whose flight is a "Mission with a Heart," the citation read.

Daech is employed at American Steel Foundries, Granite City, as a timekeeper.

Campaign fund issue is not catching fire

By ROBERT E. ESTILL
Press-Record

Spurred by a Republican State Treasurer Candidate Harry Page of Springfield is having a tough time putting his Democratic foe, incumbent Alan Dixon of Belleville, on the wrong side of a catch-fire issue.

Page tried at a recent fundraising dinner to bring Dixon into the current campaign financing controversy by asking who breaks ties when banks submit identical bids to become depositories of temporarily idle state funds.

Implicit in the question—and in Page's declaration he would name an advisory committee to ally any public suspicion—is the suggestion Dixon would not look with disfavor upon bankers who contributed to his campaign.

While not actually accusing Dixon of such favoritism, Page did say the situation could be used "to fatten campaign kitties and feed the bankers."

Not so, says Gus Fringmayer, chief of the internal auditing section of Dixon's office. The decisions are made by computer; and ties don't exist because not only the interest offered but the banks' assets and outstanding loans are considered, he said.

Banks putting more of their money into circulation are given preference when another bank from the same region offers the same interest.

Score one round for Dixon. But Page is outscoring Dixon when it comes to making public disclosures.

Page not only disclosed names of contributors before and after the primary but opened his ledger of campaign receipts and expenditures to the press.

Dixon has said he will name all donors since he announced his reelection plans Nov. 13, 1973, but hasn't decided if he will do so before or after the election.

Page maintains it would be "grossly unfair" not to let voters know before the election where the candidate is getting his money.

"This is an age-old tactic of thinking the people will have four years to forget," he said of post-campaign disclosures.

Page said he would be the first to publicly commend Dixon if he not only would make pre-election disclosures of contributions since November but of all contributions received for the last four years.

The only problem with Page's open policy is that few people seem to know or care at this point.

Remodel dental school

Fewell Construction Co. of Hartford has been awarded a $45,462 general construction contract for remodeling of three buildings at the Alton Center of Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

The contract was approved by the SIU Board of Trustees meeting in Edwardsville Thursday. General and specialty contracts approved totaled $90,326.

Specialty contracts awarded for the project include Mike's Electric Co., Godfrey, $12,710 for electrical work; General Refrigeration and Plumbing Co., East Alton, $28,761 for plumbing; and France Plumbing, Heating and Air Conditioning, Edwardsville, $2,543 for ventilating and distribution systems for conditioned air, and $2,850 for heating, piping, refrigeration and automatic temperature.

The buildings will be used by the SIU School of Dental Medicine. Remodeling will be financed by a grant of $179,574 from the National Institute of Health.

The grant is the second to be received by SIUE to be used as "start-up" money for the dental program. Under terms of the grant, funds must be encumbered by June 30.

The present administration building at Alton will be transformed into a supplemental dental clinic, with eight or nine chair stations. The clinic now in operation will be expanded by adding eight or nine chairs, and a third building will be renovated to provide additional office space.

Plans and specifications for the project were approved by the trustees in May.

Juveniles charged

Two 14-year-old Granite City youths, a boy and a girl, were charged with disorderly conduct after the boy was apprehended inside the auto of Walter Gorman, 2114 Lee Ave., at Gorman's home at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Gorman's neighbor, Ronnie Stephens, 2106 Lee Ave., said he saw a boy get into the car and Stephens apprehended him.

Neighbors said three youths had walked past the car several times before one boy got in. Police searched the area and found the girl at 22nd Street and Lee Avenue.

The two were released on notices to appear at a juvenile hearing.

TEEN LEADERS Patty McGowan and Denise Goode, both of Kirkpatrick Homes, are among Quad-City area youngsters working on a June Dairy Month promotion by the Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program of the Illinois Cooperative Extension Service.

Quad-City youngsters in dairy food promotion

June is Dairy Month! So be on the lookout for a parade of youth promoting the use of nutritious dairy products, as well as dairy posters displayed in area stores and surveys in the neighborhoods. These are only a few of the activities scheduled during the month.

Over 75 youth from the Quad-City area involved in the University of Illinois Cooperative Extension Service's Expanded Food and Nutrition Education Program (EFNEP) will participate in this activity. Many of the youth are teen leaders who will be teaching younger children in their neighborhoods the importance of dairy products. The purpose of the promotion is to make the entire community aware of the nutritional advantages of dairy foods, according to extension service leaders.

The Dairy Month promotion is only one aspect of the Nutrition Education Program's activities planned for the youth this summer. A climax to the Dairy Month Promotion will be reached on June 25 when a Day Camp is to be held in Lee Park in Venice. A day of fun and learning will be centered around the Dairy Month theme.

$1.9 million grant to aid SIU medical school program

The Veteran's Administration Hospital in Marion will be the nucleus of a downstate continuing education program for practicing physicians as part of a seven-year, $1,930,000 grant to the Southern Illinois University Medical School and Rend Lake College.

Rep. Kenneth Gray announced the grant Friday. It will come from the Veteran's Affairs Administration and is earmarked generally for training physicians, assistants and nursing practitioners.

Charles Richardson, associate dean of the SIU medical school at Carbondale, said the money will be used to "enhance the quality of education for undergraduate medical students" and to improve ways of keeping practicing doctors up-to-date in their profession. SIUC medical students do undergraduate work at the Carbondale campus before moving to Springfield for advanced clinical studies.

The first one-year payment from the grant (July 1) will send $139,465 to SIUC and $122,000 to Rend Lake. The two-year college at Ina will be sharing its part of the grant with other members of the Southern Illinois Collegiate Common Market, which includes SIUC, John A. Logan College, Shawnee College and Southeastern Illinois College at Harrisburg, as well as Rend Lake, according to Richardson.

Part of the money will be used to pay for 30 per cent teaching for time of VA Hospital physicians so they can work with SIUC medical students and the continuing education program.

Part of the hospital will be remodeled as a center where physicians in the southern 37 counties of the state can get brush-up coursework via videotape, correspondence and closed-circuit television. Doctors may even stay at the hospital for short-term "on the job" courses, Richardson said. The hospital also will provide a clinical setting for practical, off-campus study by SIUC medical students.

Student rights outlined

"All academic and personal records pertaining to individual students are confidential and can only be inspected by students, parents and school officials."

"Lockers are school property and may be searched by school officials, with or without the student's permission, when the officials believe an illegal or dangerous substance is hidden."

"Students who choose not to recite the pledge of allegiance or choose not to salute the flag may do so as long as they respect the rights of classmates who wish to participate in the ceremony."

"This information — and much more — is part of a new student rights booklet distributed by the Office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. 'Students and Schools — Rights and Responsibilities,' was compiled by the Student Affairs Unit."

"The booklet was developed in response to the many questions directed to the office regarding educational issues," Dr. Michael J. Bakalis, state superintendent, says. "While the booklet is not all-inclusive, it does highlight the current, and often controversial, concerns of students and schools."

Although information included in the booklet involves legal relationships, it is stressed.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

that it is not legal advice. Specific legal questions must be directed to capable, professional sources.

Answers to "where do you go" questions are also included in the booklet. For example, dropouts wishing to return to school are directed to their local high school counselor, while students wanting scholarship information are supplied with appropriate addresses.

Other topics of information include:

- Suspensions and expulsions.
- Corporal punishment.
- Trade schools.
- Personal appearance.
- Disease and medical treatment.
- Married and/or pregnant students.

In a section entitled "Free Expression," students are assured the right to wear buttons, badges or armbands bearing slogans as a form of expression "unless the message will cause a substantial disruption of the educational process."

The fact that the message may be unpopular with students, faculty or the public is not considered substantial disruption.

Copies of the booklet have been mailed to all superintendents of Educational Service Regions, district superintendents, building principals and each student council.

GC arrests up 154 per cent

Granite City police made a total of 508 arrests during May, an increase of 154 per cent over the 200 arrests made during the same month a year ago, and filed a total of 570 charges, up from 241 in May last year.

Most of the increase was represented in arrests for traffic violations—a total of 404 last month compared to 133 in May 1973. Other arrests totaled 104 last month, increased from 67 in May a year ago.

According to a report by Chief of Police Ronald Veizer, a total of 48 burglaries was reported last month, down eight from the 53 reported in May 1973, but officers solved 16 of last month's burglaries compared to four cases solved in the same month of the previous year.

GRANITE CITY PRESS-RECORD

Of nine assaults cases reported last month, eight were solved, compared to eight reported and one solved a year ago. One rape case was reported last month, and that was solved. No rape cases were reported in May 1973. Two robbery cases were reported last month, compared to six a year ago, with none solved in either year.

Other cases reported during May included 41 auto burglaries, up 17, with three cases solved, up three; 99 larceny cases, up six, with six solved, down 10, and 15 auto thefts, down two with none solved either year.

The report said there was a total of 146 traffic accidents during the month, down 21. Of these, 121 were property damage accidents, down 11, and 25 were injury accidents, down 10. There were no accident fatalities during the month.

Veizer reported the department answered a total of 1,639 complaints during the month, recovered ten autos and made 67 vascar arrests and 30 arrests for faulty mufflers.

Off-campus SIUE students graduate

Commencement ceremonies were held this week at Norton Air Force Base, Calif., for graduates of the Off-Campus Graduate Program in Business Administration being offered by Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville.

Eleven candidates from Norton AFB received the master of business administration degree.

Students in the program attend intensive weekend seminars taught by SIUE faculty members and complete self-directed studies between class sessions. Participants spend as many hours in classroom instruction as do those who take the conventional degree program offered at the Edwardsville campus.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, president of SIUE, was the commencement speaker at Norton AFB.

Ceremonies for degree candidates at Charleston Air Force Base, S.C., will be held on July 7.

BURGLARY ON EDISON

Entry was believed gained through an unlocked rear door. Taken were a 400 antique clock shaped like a castle, an antique telephone, $40 worth of freezer meat, about 72 pounds of fish and meat, two tape players, tape recordings worth about $100 and a cooler.

ROOM RANSACKED
Someone entered the home of Rudolph Wagner, 1643 Lindell Blvd., and ransacked a bedroom, it was reported by Wagner during the weekend. Entry was gained through a kitchen window.

Career nursing new Exploring specialty

Career nursing will be the special interest studied by members of a new Explorer Post being organized at St. Elizabeth Hospital.

Sister Mary Michael, RN, BSN, nurse coordinator of the intensive care unit at St. Elizabeth, and Mrs. Donna Docter, RN, are leaders of the new unit.

At their first meeting last week, explorer chairman for the Uniwah (Quad Cities) district, explained to the group of nine teenagers present the relationship between the explorer program and the Boy Scouts of America. Dr. Miller noted that most Explorer units are organized along career interest lines, allowing members to explore in depth a given area while in high school or early college.

Sister Mary Michael reviewed the many areas of specializations and different types of nursing. Venice, associate advisor of Explorer Post 10-4 and a member of the Uniwah district exploring committee, explained how a post is organized and the responsibilities of the members in making the post a success.

The new post will visit Post 10-4 on Wednesday, June 26, to become better acquainted with how a post functions. The regular meeting night of the nursing post has not yet been established.

Although the original nine attending the first orientation meeting were all girls, Dr. Miller said that boys interested in nursing are welcome to join and that there is a real demand for female nurses.

Attending the first meeting were Nancy Schneke, Cindy Huelkoetter, Toni Jackson, Ingrid Knapp, Rosie Gardner, Laura Vickers, Cindy Snipes, Pat Verschul and Alice Daniels.

This is the second Explorer post to be sponsored by St. Elizabeth Hospital. Post 123 which explores the entire health services area has been active for over a year and meets at the hospital on Tuesday evenings.

May establish graduate center

Southern Illinois University at Edwardsville will negotiate with Greenville College in an effort to develop a cooperative graduate center on the Greenville campus. The SIUE Board of Trustees authorized the negotiations last week.

Greenville College and SIUE representatives have held informal discussions for about a year and representatives of both institutions indicate a formal agreement is expected soon. Course offerings could begin as early as September. If the center is established, SIUE would offer a wide range of graduate courses at Greenville College for resident students. Tuition and fees equal to the on-campus rate charged at SIUE.

The two institutions would establish a graduate library center in Greenville to support course offerings. Greenville College faculty with appropriate qualifications could be given adjunct appointments to the SIUE graduate faculty and be assigned to teach and supervise graduate student research.

Dr. John S. Rendleman, SIUE president, said the new center could provide graduate educational opportunities to adult students in the area who find it more convenient to commute to Greenville than to SIUE.

The move is in keeping with SIUE and Greenville College efforts toward full institutional cooperation in this region. Both schools are members of a regional consortium attempting to establish cooperative interinstitutional programs.

The Greenville College Board of Trustees approved the development of a graduate center at its meeting May 17 with the stipulation that the progress of the program be reviewed after two years.

Two Cub Scout day camps to be held

Due to the success of the previous Cub Scout day camps during the summers of 1972 and 1973, two day camps are planned this year, according to Mrs. Phyllis Bursatti, general chairman of the program.

The first will be held Monday, July 4, through Thursday, July 11, and repeated July 15 through 18. Cub Packs must choose which week they wish to attend as there is not enough room for the same packs to participate both weeks. The program each week will be the same.

The Cub Scouts and leaders will leave from the parking lot of St. John's United Church of Christ, 2801 Nameoki Road, at 8 a.m. the first three days of the program and 7:30 a.m. on the final day.

The first day will be spent on the campus of SIUE for swimming, a Cub Olympics and a magic show; plus a face to face meeting with the SIUE Cougar and a visit with Officer Friendly.

The Cubs will get a taste of American history as they travel on Tuesday to Pere Marquette State Park for a day of Indian games, participate in a "Buffalo" hunt, making Indian headbands and neckerchiefs, then hike where Father Marquette and his Indian friends once walked.

The boys will go to Silver Lake in Highland on the third day for fishing and fun. The Cubs will learn how to clean and file a fish, have a "Huck Finn" cookout, and make a neckerchief for wearing to Camp Sennen on Thursday. The Cubs also will learn some basic first aid on the third outing.

Camp Sennen near Potosi, Mo. is always the highlight of the four-day adventure. At camp, the Cubs will shoot rifles, use the archery range, climb the monkey bridge, visit the "creep crawlers" at the nature lodge, hike to the trading post.

The cost for the four day attending for each person will be $6.50. Requirements for Cub Scouts to attend is to bring one new boy in to the pack and have him registered before day camp. However this requirement may be set aside if the Cubmaster certifies that an attempt was made to recruit a new boy, but none was available.

One adult must accompany every eight or less boys from a pack. Members from the same pack must all participate on the same days.

"This is one of the finest ways we know to introduce a new boy to the Cub Scout program and to the Scouting program in general," Mrs. Bursatti said.

Registration will be handled on a first come, first served basis, and registration blanks and membership applications are available at the Scout Service Center, 1338A Niedringhaus Ave.

Working on the planning committee with Mrs. Bursatti are Mesdames Pat Foote, Arlene Laub, Rose Lawrence, Marlen Manogian, Pat Shable, Barbara Shanks, Darlene Smith, and Mary Turpoff.

Robert Hogan, district scout executive, is serving as staff advisor.

The Rev. Roman Kaiser officiated at the double ring service at 4:30 in the afternoon before an altar banked with arrangements of white gladioli, mums and carnations.

Organ and vocal selections were provided by Edward Ladeceur.

The bride is a daughter of Technical Sergeant (ret.) and Mrs. John B. Wisniewski, 2009 E. Reynolds Ave., N. Las Vegas, Nev. Parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Anthony V. Ratkiewicz, reside at 1608 Fifth St., Madison.

Mefford-Batson nuptials at Sacred Heart Church

Miss Catherine Elaine Batson became the bride of Russell Lee Mefford in an afternoon ceremony on June 8 at Sacred Heart Catholic Church. Bouquets of spring flowers adorned the altar for the double ring service, performed at 1 p.m. by the Rev. Daniel Flynn. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James C. Batson, 2641 Center St. The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Mefford, 2106 Dewey Ave. A reception was given at the VFW Hall and the rehearsal dinner was served at Charlie's Restaurant.

A full length gown of silk organza fashioned with a high neck, fitted bodice and long, tapered sleeves was worn by the bride. The bodice, sleeves and the slightly gathered skirt were embellished with vertical motifs of Swiss lace. The gown was repeated on the attached train that fell into a full sweep.

A lace headband secured her ruffled veil of silk illusion, edged in matching lace, and she carried a colonial bouquet of carnations, pom poms and pink tea roses.

Miss Irene Hauptman, maid of honor, chose a mint green gown of floral flocced print designed with an Empire bodice, scoop neckline and A-line skirt.

The bridesmaids, Miss Becky Batson, a sister of the bride, Miss Paula Mefford, the groom's sister, and Miss Jackie Pahuksi, selected identically designed dresses only in blue, lilac and yellow.

Each attendant wore a picture hat with matching colored ribbons and held a bouquet of carnations, pom poms and baby breath in rainbow shades.

Jeri Mefford, a sister of the groom, and Christine Sternberg, the groom's cousin, were flower girls. They were dressed in pale green dotted swiss frocks and held white baskets of flower petals.

Christopher Bartling, the groom's nephew, served as ringbearer. Randy Miller attended the groom as best man. Bill Sternberg, Rick Hoover, Bill Mosely and Tim and Chris Batson, brothers of the bride, acted as the corps of groomsmen and ushers.
